JOHNSON WINS MICHIGAN

UNIONS RUSH MEN TO BREAK RAIL STRIKE

May Beat "Rebels" by Saturday.

Leaders of regular unions battled yesterday to break the strike of the "saboteur" switchmen, whose walk-out, plus the Easter blizzard, tied freight traffic on eleven roads into a double bowknot.

Between 400 and 500 yardmen, all of whom were brought in from outside points to fill the places of the strikers. Today 500 or 600 more union substitutes are to be assembled in the various yards and the regulars believe the backbone of the strike will be broken. By Saturday the various railroad managements and the unionists estimate that traffic will be almost back at normal, recovered from both the strike and the snowstorm.

Meanwhile a shutdown on a large scale at the stockyards was threatened by the light receipts of cattle, with prospects that 50,000 men may be thrown out of work temporarily. Stockmen are holding back their shipments in view of the tieup, fearing their cattle and hogs might perish in the yards. Only 300 cars were received at the yards yesterday. They were handled promptly.

Stockyards May Shut Down.

O. T. Henkle, general manager of the Union Stockyards company, was authorized for the statement that the packing houses would shut down unless cattle receipts increased within the next two or three days.

The receipts today were only between 200 and 300 cars, Mr. Henkle said. "The companies very unfavorably with the usual arrival of between 1,000 and 2,000 cars. Unless receipts pick up the plants will undoubtedly close."

"The recent snowstorm has caused stock raisers to hesitate about shipping their animals, and news of the strike has caused them to be even more unwilling to risk their cattle. Cattle trains are brought directly to the stock yards by their crews instead of being turned over to switchmen at the railroad yards, as in the case of other freight, so that unless the switchmen's strike became general we could unload the cattle arriving at the city's outskirts."

Morris Lays Off Men.

The following statement was given out by Morris & Co.:

"We finished slaughtering today all the live stock we had on hand. This necessitated laying off all employees in the department, as there was no work for them. This naturally affects all of the other departments in the plant. We are turning our work to such employees as we can, but if there is a continuation of present conditions for a few more days at least 75 per cent of all employees will be out of work."

Say Only 2,500 Are Out.

The strikers claim they have nearly 14,000 men out. This is denied by the railroad and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who announced last night after a careful canvass that not more than 2,500 men, switchmen and switchtenders, are participating in the walkout. By replacing some 800 strikers with unionists, they say, the troublesome spirit will be relieved and the tieup will begin to unravel itself.

Congestion in the yards by reason of through freight was relieved when freight trains, routed through Chicago, began to pass east and west through other points. Thousands of cars were diverted. For instance, 70 per cent of the freight shipped from Milwaukee is routed through Chicago. An embargo issued yesterday kept this mass of shipments from coming into the Chicago yards. Similar embargoes were posted at other points. Railroad officials said the yards were operating on at least 40 per cent efficiency yesterday and, as a matter of fact, the blizzard was tying things up worse than the strike.

Like Express Strike.

Regular labor organization men pointed out a resemblance between the strike of the "irregular" switchmen's union and the recent strike of the expressmen, which blew up for a lack of support. Likewise an analogy was traced between the striking switchmen and the radical groups in the miners' unions, who last summer went on unauthorized strikes that fell through.

An appeal to the members of the Order of Railway Conductors, participating in the strike, to return to work was made last night by S. N. Berry of Cedar Rapids, Ia., senior vice president.

ELECTION TODAY

ALDERMANIC ELECTIONS are held today in ten wards in Chicago. The other twenty-five wards completed their selection of aldermen in the preliminary election in February.

If you are a registered voter—man or woman—in any of the ten wards holding elections today don't fail to vote. Polls open 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

RECOMMENDATIONS

By the Municipal Voters' league, in which THE TRIBUNE concurs, are as follows:

Ward.

- 5—THOMAS A. DOYLE.
- 8—THOMAS A. GREEN or ALD. M. S. FURMAN.
- 9—ALD. S. W. GOVIER.
- 11—ALD. HERMAN KRUMDICK.
- 12—ALD. JOSEPH I. NOVAK.
- 21—ALD. EARL J. WALKER.
- 22—ALD. JOHN H. BAULER.
- 24—JOSEPH A. WEBER.
- 26—ALD. GEORGE PRETZEL.
- 27—NEWTON JENKINS.

ANOTHER ELECTION (state-wide)

is to be held a week from today (April 13). At it party committeemen will be elected from each Chicago ward; a preferential vote on presidential candidates will be taken; delegates to the national conventions will be elected—two from each congressional district—and the Chicago voters will ballot on the proposed bond issues. In country towns, including Evanston and Oak Park, precinct committeemen will be elected by both parties.

E. M. HOYNE & CO. FAIL WHEN CORN HITS HIGH MARK

"Lack of Capital" Is Blamed.

Eugene M. Hoyne & Co., a stock and grain brokerage house with offices at 105 South La Salle street, announced their inability to protect their open trades in the grain market late yesterday and suspended operations.

The failure is the first in the grain trade since the beginning of the war. The firm is composed of Eugene M. Hoyne and Eugene H. De Bronkhart and succeeded that of Perry, Price & Co. in 1918.

Shortly after the market closed a statement was issued by Mr. Hoyne.

The Hoyne Statement.

The statement follows: "The cause of our failure to meet the margin calls of the Board of Trade today at 3 o'clock was due in large measure to lack of capital."

"In December, 1918, the firm of Perry, Price & Co. was unable to meet its obligations. I at that time was an employee of that firm and had secured open accounts from a number of my friends. In order to endeavor to get their money back I agreed to assume all the debts of Perry, Price & Co., and they agreed to guarantee these debts while the present firm of Eugene M. Hoyne & Co. was earning money sufficient to pay them back."

Blames Grain Advance.

"During the last three weeks the grain market has had a terrific advance, and it found a number of our customers unable to respond to our calls as rapidly as the board of trade requires. Consequently, today we deemed it best to close our business so that our creditors should not suffer severe loss."

"A meeting of our creditors will be called within the next few days, letters having been sent out tonight explaining the situation fully, and at this meeting a plan for closing out the business will be presented to them which I feel will meet with their complete satisfaction."

No statement was made as to the firm's open interest in the grain markets last night, but it is understood to have been very heavy. The concern has advocated the selling of corn short for the last few months, while prices for that commodity have advanced over 45c a bushel since Feb. 9.

Corn Slumps, Then Jumps.

Corn yesterday suffered a sharp slump early in the day, due to false reports regarding alleged indictments of a number of grain operators, but recovered and sold at $1.65 1/2 at closing, the record price for the year.

Eugene M. Hoyne is a member of the New York Stock exchange, and both Messrs. Hoyne and De Bronkhart are members of the local board of trade. Mr. Hoyne is a brother of State's Attorney MacLay Hoyne.

LEADING WOOD BY BIG MARGIN; LOWDEN THIRD

Detroit Swings Vote to Senator.

BULLETIN.

Detroit, Mich., April 6, 3 a. m.—With partial returns from more than half the counties in the state tabulated, Senator Hiram Johnson has a big lead over Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood for indorsement as the Republican nominee in yesterday's presidential preference primary. Figures from 875 precincts out of 2,421 in the state gave:

Johnson, 65,965; Wood, 41,744. In the last 175 precincts Wood gained 2,500 on Johnson. Earlier figures from 446 precincts gives Lowden 10,012; Hoover, 9,771.

A close race developed in the Democratic contest. The vote in 337 precincts showed: Hoover, 2,918; Edwards, 2,970; McAdoo, 2,163; Bryan, 1,916; Palmer, 1,524.

Detroit, Mich., April 6, 1:30 a. m.—[Special.]—Senator Hiram Johnson of California has been declared the presidential choice in Michigan.

Throughout the state the senator and Leonard Wood ran fairly close for the Republican choice, but in Wayne county (Detroit) Johnson went with such smashing strides, that his totals put him far in the lead. His vote in Wayne was almost 5 to 1 for Wood in 127 precincts of the 366 in the county. These Detroit precincts gave Johnson 19,960 and Wood 4,731.

On the Democratic side Gov. Edwards of New Jersey was easily a leader in Detroit and Wayne, undoubtedly because of his "wet" platform, although he is not a candidate of his own volition in Michigan. His nearest competitor here was Hoover, and Hoover has so far the best of it in the state he is apparently the choice of the Democratic ticket.

Farmer Vote Is Light.

Gov. Lowden of Illinois ran a bad third throughout the state, although he crowded Wood for second place in Detroit. Hoover, as a Republican candidate, was lost in the state, but ran a close fourth to Lowden. Pershing and Polindexter were out of the running.

The vote for Wood and Johnson was close in most localities throughout the state. Lowden showed an occasional spurt of strength, especially in some counties of the Seventh district, that of Congressman Cramton, Johnson's campaign manager. His strength here lay among the farmers. Lowden's lack of showing is attributed to the light vote of the farmers, with whom he was counted strongest. Sunday's storm was a reason for the farmers' failure to come out, roads being in bad shape.

Figures for Kalamazoo complete follow: Wood, 1,427; Johnson, 1,086; Hoover, 1,058; Lowden, 686; Pershing, 170; Polindexter, 15.

Wood Leads in the North.

Incomplete reports from Houghton, Iron and Dickinson counties, in the Upper Peninsula, gave Wood, 4,623 votes; Johnson, 2,687; Lowden, 1,194, and Hoover, 1,406. Returns from this section are coming in slowly, due to the Easter storm. Gen. Wood's managers claim he will receive a heavy vote in this section of the state.

Returns from twenty-nine out of forty-seven precincts in Muskegon county gave: Republican—Wood, 710; Hoover, 385; Johnson, 1,102; Lowden, 534; Pershing, 139; Polindexter, 13; Simpson, 32. Democratic—Bryan, 48; Edwards, 32; Hoover, 50; McAdoo, 51; Palmer, 17.

Voters Have Real Chance.

No national election in Michigan ever showed more signs of real interest than today's primary, which gave the voters a chance to register their presidential choice from a large field of candidates.

Realizing the extent to which various candidates have centered on their campaigns for the support of Michigan voters, political leaders see additional significance in the Michigan outcome.

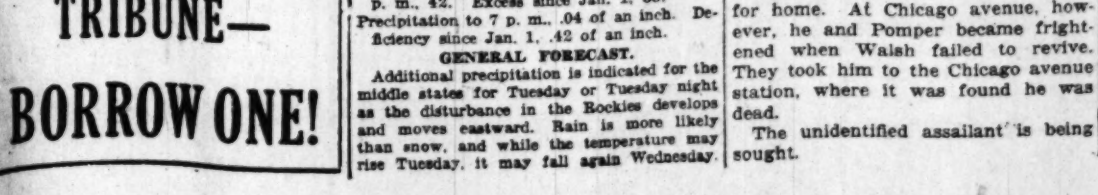

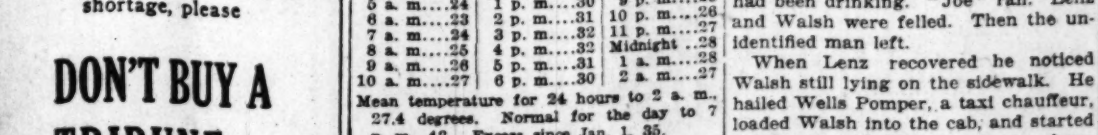

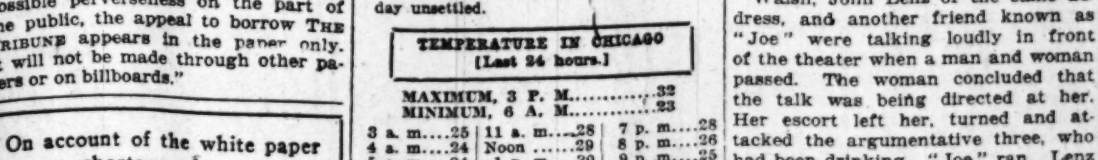

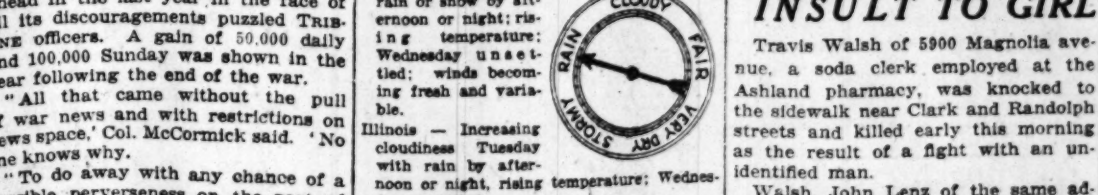

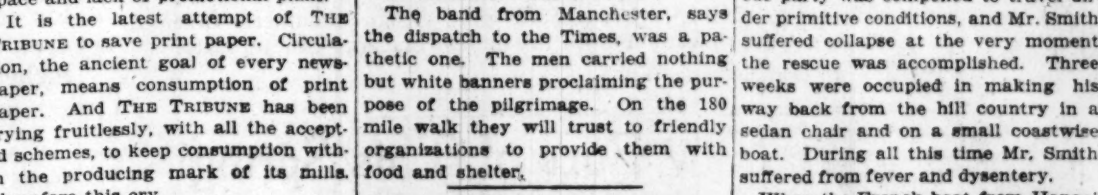

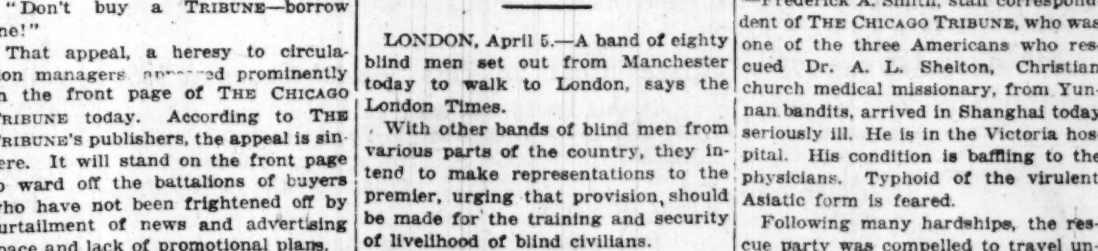

It is the first time also that the women have been allowed to vote in the presidential election.

Vladivostok Seized by Japanese Army

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT THINGS

The Chronically Jaundiced and the Cheerfully Philosophical.

Russians Lose Hard Fight for Siberian Port

(By the Associated Press.)

VLADIVOSTOK, April 5.—

Japanese troops today occupied Vladivostok, after eight hours of severe fighting in all parts of the city.

The Japanese imperial flag is flying in the place of the Russian ensign from all government buildings.

Arrest All Russians.

Some of the officials of the revolutionary contingent have been arrested and deported. All Russians have been disarmed.

Throughout last night the Japanese fought with rifles, machine guns, grenades, and small artillery in all portions of the city.

Take Russians by Surprise.

Their incessant firing met little opposition, as the Russians were taken by surprise, the Japanese moves toward occupation having been unexpected by the party in power.

Many Russians escaped into the hill country behind the city, whence they had come two months ago when the all Russian government of Admiral Kolchak fell before the attacks of a revolutionary party.

Wait Until Yanks Leave.

Early today the Japanese launched their attack in the Co-rean quarter, which they occupied. Later they marched Co-rean and Russian prisoners, tied together with ropes, through many of the streets of the city.

The last of the American expeditionary force under Brig. Gen. William S. Graves left Vladivostok April 1. A few hours subsequent to their departure a proclamation was posted throughout the city stating Japanese troops would not evacuate Siberia at the present time.

The proclamation warned all inhabitants against any unfriendly attitude on the part of the Russian population. The tenseness of the situation had increased hourly since that time until the clash today.

Russian revolutionary forces took control of Vladivostok early in February after having made a night raid upon the city.

Recent advices from the far east have indicated the Japanese were concentrating their forces along the Ussuri railroad north of Vladivostok and the Chinese Eastern railroad in Manchuria.

Allied Consuls Flee.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

TOKIO, April 5.—The allied consuls in Vladivostok are beginning to arrive in Japan, fearing conditions following the American evacuation. They state the situation is fast becoming worse.

The war office's confirmation of the Japanese defeat at Nikolaevsk and the loss of 700 men has started the nation. The press is demanding a definite announcement of policy.

The official gazette tomorrow will announce that the primary object of the Japanese expedition was the relief of the Czechs. The statement presupposes that the Japanese withdrawal will be simultaneous with the Czechs', but the geographical position of the empire is different from the allied lands and immediate withdrawal is impossible.

The lawlessness of Siberia, the statement will say, endangers Co-rean and Manchurian, while Japanese residents of Siberia are not guaranteed safety of life and property and therefore the Japanese will stay until a settled government is established.

This means, it says, no political menace against the Russians, Japan having no territorial or political ambitions in Siberia.

FRENCH ARMY IN DARMSTADT AND FRANKFORT

No Resistance to New Invasion.

BULLETIN.

MAYENCE, April 6, 5 a. m.

—French troops entered Frankfort and Darmstadt at 5 o'clock this morning, encountering no resistance from German government forces in those two cities.

PARIS, April 5.—[By Associated Press.]—All officers and soldiers on Easter holiday leaves have been ordered to join their units immediately, and the local police in the various cities of France have been instructed personally to inform those on leave to return without delay.

France has four classes of men—those from 1916 to 1919, inclusive—still under arms, or about 700,000 men. No other class has been recalled and no effort made to increase the effectiveness besides the cancellation of all leaves.

The British government will decline to co-operate in the occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt, and other German cities, according to the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien. But will, he says, "favorably follow the action of France, realizing the importance of the situation."

PARIS EXPLAINS MOVE

PARIS, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.]—The attitude of the French government in the present German crisis is defined and explained in a note issued tonight.

After reiterating that the government has no hostile designs towards Germany, desiring, on the contrary, the resumption of normal relations with that country, and expressing realization of the difficult situation of the Berlin government, the note declares that the German government has given way to pressure by the militarist party, "not fearing to infringe the imperative and most solemn stipulations of the Versailles treaty."

Troop Move Uncalled For.

The sequence of facts follows: "The first request for permission for the entry of extra troops into the Ruhr district was made just after the insurgent movement by the military authorities on March 15. It was renewed from Berlin on March 17, in the name of the legitimate government by Von Haniel, who had remained in Berlin with the consent, at least implied, of the insurgent government."

"All information from the allied missions, and again, the day before yesterday, from the high commissioners at Coblenz, does not cease to show that German military intervention is uncalculated for by the situation, and it would be attended with the gravest dangers from the point of view of security both for the population and the men in the field."

Precautionary Measures.

The note then points out that if the German government had carried out the disarmament clauses of the treaty there would have never been the Kapp insurrection nor the Red army in the Ruhr district, and remarks that articles 42 and 44 are such an indispensable safeguard that article 1 on the Franco-Anglo-American convention defines as a casus federis those dispositions insufficient to assure the protection of France. It concludes:

"The situation created by the abrupt offensive of the German troops in the Ruhr obliges the French government today to consider military measures the execution of which cannot be deferred. The sole object of these measures is to bring Germany to a due respect of the treaty; they are exclusively of a coercive and precautionary character."

The views of the allies are not yet made known; the various premiers are now on vacations and have not answered M. Millerand's telegram.

LEAGUE GHOST TO HAUNT NEXT TEST ON PEACE

Hitchcock to Inject It in House Resolution.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—Announcement by Senator Hitchcock today that he would move the incorporation of the league of nations covenant in the resolution declaring peace, scheduled to be passed by the house this week, gave a new impetus to the struggle between the executive and the senate over the treaty of Versailles.

The Democratic leader professes that his purpose is to test the sincerity of the Republicans on the league of nations question, but the Republicans view the prospective move as an effort to "put them in a hole," for they cannot vote for the covenant without reservations, and an amendment embodying the covenant with the Lodge reservations would only give the president additional reason for vetoing the peace resolution.

G. O. P. Up Against It.
It would require only a majority vote to incorporate the covenant in the resolution and to add the reservations, but once returned with the president's veto, there would arise the same old impossibility of mustering
a two-thirds majority.

Senator Hitchcock expects a prolonged debate of the resolution in the senate, the eventual veto by the president and the resubmission of the treaty of Versailles at the same time as the veto.

Republican members of the house committee on foreign affairs gave their opinion today to a majority report opposing the adoption of the Porter peace resolution by the house.

Status of U. S. Troops.
Asked what would be the status of the American troops in Germany if congress should pass the proposed peace resolution, Representative Kahn, chairman of the military affairs committee, said:

"It is my belief that the troops can be brought home from Germany if the peace resolution is enacted into law.
However, it has always been recognized that the president of the United States alone must determine how the military forces shall be employed.

"The more I have studied the subject the more I am convinced that the present mood that can be accomplished for our citizens and our country is to bring our troops from Europe
the earliest possible moment."

New Appeal for Treaty.
The nonpartisan group of citizens,
of which Cardinal Gibbons is a conspicuous member, which is endeavoring to bring about a resubmission of the Versailles treaty to the senate and the approval of the League of Nations
by the president, issued an appeal today to the public to support the proposal.

In this public appeal the Irish reservation is eliminated from those the resident is urged to accept. This is achieved by confining the reservations applied to those adopted last November,
a later revision.

Despairing of our statesmen we appeal to the ultimate authority, the people, to take the thing to the streets and settle it, the statement says.

"We want the people themselves of all political parties and all shades of opinion in respect to the treaty and the will to say in a vote which will be heard, in terms that will be understood, just what is their will, and demand that it be respected.

"Our appeal is to the whole people:
Lodge Republicans, administration
Democrats, independents, everybody who believes in the league of nations as a necessary thing to stabilize the world, as Senator Lodge says he does,
and as the president says he does.

"Our appeal is to all who are friends of the league of nations, with reservations or without reservations, who desires its total destruction, to take the matter in hand by business proposition and on that basis determine it."

High School Deans Put Ban on "Shimmy" and Open Classes to Instruct in the Proper

Oetting, and Alon Jenkins of Marshall High school the approved way to dance.

If any high school girl dances the "shimmy" after school, she does it at the risk of expulsion. The sort of dancing that may be called too progressive is tabooed from now on.

A decree ending ultra modern phases of the modern dances was handed down yesterday by the High School Deans' association. Announcement that the new rules for dancing will be rigidly enforced was made by Miss Grace Bartelme, president.

The use of rouge also has been outlawed by the association. "Any girl discovered using paint will be severely reprimanded," reads the decree. "We are against any use of the stuff. We recommend that girls be very modest in using powder. We are also against the new styles in lace silk hosiery and low neck dresses."

The dancing position outlined by Miss Bartelme follows: "Leader places his right hand lightly between the shoulders, keeping his right elbow well away from his body; his left hand extended palm up, with the fingers of his partner's right hand."

"The girl's left hand rests lightly on the leader's shoulder. Her elbow is just above the leader's, but not resting upon it. A straight line from these bent elbows would be parallel with both bodies."

GERMANS HELPED TIE MORGANATIC KNOT ON PRINCE

Roumania Queen Explains Mesalliance.

BUCHAREST, April 1.—[Delayed.—
(By the Associated Press).—"It was German agents who maneuvered and brought about the marriage of my son Charles," said the queen of Roumania today in speaking of the morganatic marriage contracted in September, 1918, between Crown Prince Charles of Roumania and Zisis Lambrino, a young woman who is said to have had previously little social rank or wealth.

The queen requested the correspondent to give her explanation of the marriage, owing, as she said, to there having been many untrue reports of the action of herself and King Ferdinand, who were abroad at the time and who, she declared, had been pictured as tearing asunder a loving couple.

"Not Pretty, but Intelligent."
"I am convinced that it was not a case of true love," Queen Marie said.
"I have never seen the girl, except at public balls. She is not pretty, but she succeeded in capturing the affections of Charles. She is intelligent and ambitious. She saw her chance to obtain a great advantage, and she took it."

"However, it was against the public policy of the country to have a member of the royal family intermarry locally and thus become mixed in party intrigues. It was against this that the country sought a foreign king and queen."

Married Despite Promise.
"I begged my son to consider these facts and he promised to forego his personal wishes for the benefit of the country. Nevertheless the marriage took place at Odessa, aided by Germans. Later it was announced as legal, both under the laws of Roumania and of old Russia, as no bans were published."

Later Charles joined his regiment, military discipline, and went to Budapest with our army. Associated with patriotic Roumanians, he saw his duty and realized how foolish he had been to leave his country for a girl. Later he had accepted a mission to Japan,
where he will stay for six months.
Should the girl marry another person,
the affair will be ended."

Seeks Love of People.
Queen Marie aspires to be considered the mother of the country rather than a royal personage. The queen is considered by the people a dream worker in their interests—always cheerful and brave, even in the darkest hour of their history. During the war, and even now, peasant women come to her for solace and she is sought by everybody in Roumania.

"My English blood kept up my courage
when we retired to Jassy," said Queen Marie. "There I opposed the peace treaty. I finally was compelled to make. I was for sticking it out to the bitter end. Before I had to leave our capital I suffered the terrible grief of losing my youngest child. We had many dark hours in Jassy, cut off from our allies. The British ship operating in Russia, we felt like shipwrecked persons on a desert island."

Working for Reconstruction.
Queen Marie said she was trying to be a practical queen.
"That is why I am interested in the reconstruction of Roumania," she added. "I am sure that any one who invests money here will get a return with a handsome profit. We have several loans offered us and we would accept them if the conditions were reasonable. I never wish to vote myself, but I have sympathies with those who think that they can be useful to their

Mother Ill, Daughters
to Run Woolworth Estate
New York, April 5.—Mrs. Jennie Woolworth, widow of Frank W. Wool-daughters, Helen Woolworth McCann and Jennie Woolworth Donahue, as co-managers of the estate, which is valued at approximately $30,000,000.

Landis Balloon
ARISES, GOES 75
MILES, ALIGHTS
Omaha, Neb., April 5.—The free balloon in which Judge K. M. Landis of Chicago, Col. Joseph Morrow of Chicago, Lieut. Col. Jacob Wuest, and A.
Leo Stevens of Fort Omaha started for Chicago at 11:40 a. m. today landed this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at Anita, Ia., about five miles east of here.

Half an hour after the balloon had started Dr. F. H. Milliner, in charge of wireless experiments at this post, got into communication with Judge Landis in the balloon from his apartments in the city.

He conversed with Judge Landis several times during the voyage.
Although the temperature on the ground was below freezing, at the time
the start was made weather observations indicated the passengers would find the going comfortable in the clouds.

The message telling of the landing did not tell why they descended. The message from Col. Wuest merely stated the party would return to Omaha on a train.

"DICK" CROKER AS

AS IN HIS YOUTH
Palm Beach, Fla., April 5.—[Special.]— Richard Croker, former Tammany boss, is perfectly sane, according to a report made public by Dr. Ralph N.
Green, alienist.

Dr. Green observed Croker for several days following action of Croker's children in obtaining an injunction preventing him from disposing of any property on the grounds that he was mentally incompetent.

"I found a wealth of mental maturity and soundness of judgment coupled with an excellent state of physical preservation," the physician's report said.
"I found no evidence of senility, which is alleged in affidavits filed in the courts."

Affidavits declaring Croker's mind was sound were filed today by Norman E. Mack of Buffalo and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

ARMY TRAINING BILL IN SENATE TILL VOTED ON

Let George (A. E. F.) Do
It, Democrats Insist.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—The Wadsworth army reorganization bill, establishing universal military training and designed to keep the United States from falling back into the state of unpreparedness which preceded the war with Germany, was taken up by the senate today and will remain the "unfinished business" until it reaches a vote.

In opening the debate for the measure, Senator Wadsworth, New York, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, told the senate that under the provisions of the bill it will be possible to train an army of 3,000,000 men for approximately what it will cost to maintain the 300,000 standing army provided for in the present bill.

Hitchcock Leads Opposition.
Sounding the keynote of the Democratic opposition to the bill, Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, the administration leader, wanted to know why the United States should provide for such a large force when "we have over 3,000,000 men trained now." He was referring to the veterans of the war with Germany.

Senator Wadsworth explained that after universal training is adopted it would be possible to reduce the size of the regular army to such an extent that the money saved would almost exactly offset the cost of universal training.

The bill provides for a regular army of 250,000 enlisted men and 15,000 officers. With universal training the enlisted men would be reduced to 210,000
in six years.

"Why can't we get along with 210-000 men now, when we have 3,000,000 men trained?" asked Senator Hitchcock.

"Is it fair," replied Senator Wadsworth, "to continue asking them to be responsible for the defense of the country? It seems to me that their successors in age should be called upon to take up the burden. They have done their bit."

Senator Hitchcock contended that the government "has no greater hold on the services of those to be trained than it has upon those who have already been trained."

Senator Wadsworth insisted that it was unfair to expect the A. E. F. men to fight another war, and explained that the object of the training provisions was to see that "our young men have a better chance for their lives in battle."

New Disparaging Tactics.
Senator Hitchcock then tried new offensive tactics. He insisted that "universal training" was a misnomer, and that actually the bill provided for
"compulsory military training."

Elaborating this point, he called attention to the fact that troops trained under the universal training provisions would automatically go into the military service in case of war.

Senator Wadsworth promptly admitted the truth of this statement.
"But," he added, "they would have to go to war anyhow, if the country was seriously menaced. The only difference would be that under this bill they would go trained and with some knowledge of how to take care of themselves."

House Bill Inadequate.
The house bill provides for a regular army of 300,000 men and 17,500 officers.
It would cost $540,000,000 annually.
For approximately this same expenditure the senate bill would create a trained citizen army of more than 2,000,000 men.

"That's the point I want to drive home to the senate and to the country," said Senator Wadsworth.
The average annual cost of the military establishment under the senate bill would be about $600,000,000. Young men, after they reach their eighteenth year, would be required to take four months' training, 640,000 men being trained each year.

THE OUTLAW STRIKE.

Radical forces at work in the organized labor movement show themselves in the strike of switchmen and yardmen.

The strike is opposed by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America. It is organized by insurgents, who wish to destroy constructive unionism and replace it by the destructive tactics of force. It is a breach of contract with the railways and of the principle of collective bargaining.

The strike therefore deserves no moral or other support either from union labor or from the general public. Its leaders are irresponsible mischief makers, whose object is to benefit themselves, not their followers, by seizing power and overthrowing the regular organizations and their officers.

This attempt is being made not only to the injury of union labor, but at the cost of the general public. A railway tieup must be paid for by the public, including the wage workers of this whole region. To the strike leaders this is a matter of no importance. But they will find it is important. As Vice President Whitney of the brotherhood says: "The mob has never won. The mob will not win now."

The strike should be promptly broken. Loyal unionists should be given ample protection and union labor sentiment should make itself felt against what is in fact an attack upon union labor by its worst enemies, the radicals who organize strikes to disrupt union organization, defy its responsible leadership, and turn public opinion against union labor.

Meanwhile the public, which is doing some serious thinking on the subject of strikes in essential industries, will wonder whether the law of self-preservation does not call for some more effective means of public defense than now exist. The striking railroad men who have deserted their posts and turned their backs on their responsible labor organizations, have broken their contracts and are submitting the people of a great community to unnecessary injury are the victims of bad leadership, but the spirit they show is a menace to the public and cannot be wisely ignored.

PAY FOR THE OFFICERS.

That lamentable lack of precedence which sends men into war without arms and information of the dangers to be met with is maneuvering in congress to increase the pay of naval officers only.

Those who favor increases only for the navy are our old friends, the "springers to arms." They are perfectly well aware that the failure to give the army officers a decent remuneration will drive those officers out of the service. They are perfectly well aware that without competent officers the army must dwindle to insignificance. They must be aware that with only a feeble gesture posing as the military strength of a great nation we shall be in a miserable posture of defense.

Pay the naval officers, who justify are the first line of defense. But pay also the army officers, who must keep everlastingly on the alert to maintain the framework upon which in times of stress we must construct our civilian armies.

March 21 ought to be a day well fixed in the minds of those who ignore defense. They may take good advice out of reading now of what happened to the British army on the Somme on March 21, 1918. The British were bold and treacherous. But they lacked skill. The tens of thousands of British who fell before the German advance of March, 1918, ought to remind us that defense is of two parts—preparation and accomplishment.

Skill is the one thing which reposes in the trained minds of the regular officers. They are quitting the army by hundreds because they lack common necessities. They have been schooled and trained for the government defense. The failure to maintain them properly is a waste of government energy.

This is a dangerous period in international history. Revolt and warfare have not been abolished. We are living in the shadow of the greatest war of all times. Shall we throw away our defenses?

FOR AN AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY.

Says Gen. Wood: "We want a strong self-repelling foreign policy, tolerant, seeking peace, but stanch in the protection of our rights and interests. Americans must be protected wherever they live. Not one dollar for ransom, but millions for rescue."

From this we may gather that the vagaries of what passes for a policy in foreign relations, especially with respect to Mexico, during the last seven years, will be reversed if Gen. Wood becomes president. Those who believe American safety and welfare depend upon firmness and, if need be, on vigorous action rather than upon vacillation and acceptance of affront, will welcome Gen. Wood's declaration, which we believe expresses the real spirit of the American people when it is not befuddled by rhetoric or misguided through suppression of facts.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The janitors' union is against a daylight saving ordinance. So are Mr. Fitzpatrick and such part of the Chicago Federation of Labor as follows his sentiments. He says the miners are against it as well as the agricultural associations.

We do not see how a city ordinance is going to affect seriously either the farmers or the miners. As for the janitors and Mr. Fitzpatrick's friends in the federation, they seem to be against it not because it will hurt any wage earner but because they think it may benefit a "banker."

This is a good example of the radical bunk that men like Fitzpatrick make use of to keep themselves in their jobs. The employer can save his own daylight by organizing his hours of work so as to do so. If he wants to play golf, the clock won't stop him. It is the employee of all classes who will benefit by the change of time to correspond with the sun. If the clerk and the wage earner can get home an hour earlier and have time to see a ball game or to work in a garden or go to a park before dark, it seems to us it will add to their health and pleasure of life. Fitzpatrick is afraid it may add to the health and pleasure of bankers or other employers, and to prevent that he wants the wage earners and the salaried man to go without. The explanation of Fitzpatrick's position seems pretty clear. He and his like thrive by keeping up bad feeling among employees against employers, and they are willing the employees should suffer by it. In this case it is the employees, not the employers, who will suffer. If they are willing to be bamboozled by Fitzpatrick, they have only themselves to blame.

But we are sorry if the hundreds of thousands of workers in offices and shops and their families, who would be benefited by daylight saving, are cheated out of an hour of freedom because Fitzpatrick wants labor to bite off its nose to spite its face.

MAKING IT IN TWO YUMPS.

Mayor Thompson, with a horn to make him audible and the brunette vote to make him visible, properly leads the fight against "the invisible government."

Mr. Lundin, as becomes his retiring disposition, is a case of low visibility, but he is not invisible. He generally can be found on the wood pile, whittling and listening to the towhee. He is not interested in politics. If he is not on the wood pile, he will be found in it.

"The invisible government" is the city council. Behind the council is the Municipal Voters' league, founded many years ago by George E. Coe to betray the people. For many years the M. V. L. has carried on a system of predatory politics by manipulation of the city council, but Mr. Thompson and Mr. Lundin have unmasked it.

They know that the city council is the tool of the invisible government because it is not entirely controlled by the city hall. A council not controlled by the mayor, as Mr. Thompson will tell you, is a menace. It has bad designs. An alderman who will not always vote as Mayor Thompson tells him to vote is the slave of something. He is a bad alderman, and he should be defeated.

In the process of telling this with a horn Mr. Thompson uses the Hearst publications, which agree with him that the M. V. L. is a vicious outfit, responsible for a vicious condition of independence in the city hall. To obtain a dependable council, it is necessary to get men who will take orders from the front office. Otherwise the liberties of the city are in danger.

Therefore, as the Hearst papers tell you, you should vote against aldermen who will not follow the mayor and for aldermen who will take orders. In no other fashion can the council attain its independence. In the Twenty-first ward, for instance, the election of the mayor's candidate, Mr. Agnew, will give the council an independent alderman, one independent of everything except the city hall.

As the Evening American remarked, there are some unfortunate conditions presented by the election today. "Most of the candidates, unfortunately, passed beyond the people's power last February, when they won reelection under the nonpartisan law."

This was indeed unfortunate. The people completely betray themselves when they elect aldermen. How much better the judicial situation will be when Thompson committee men name the judges without bothering the people about it. That will give an independent judiciary. And if an independent council can be obtained, really independent, what a government! Even Mr. Lundin, whose work is wonderful, ought to be satisfied.

We understand that it was Mr. Lundin who advised Mr. Thompson that he could "make it in two yumps." One yump ought to get him the county committee, with its judicial, park, and tax appendages, and the other yump may get him the city council, independent of the invisible government represented by the M. V. L.

Mr. Lundin is a far seeing statesman, and under his urgency Mr. Thompson will yump like sixty. And if he lands the new bonds, O yump! You will be able to hear the city hall purring six blocks away.

MAKE BAIL BONDS COLLECTABLE.

Records showing bail bonds of more than $2,000, 000 forfeited in 1919, and less than 1 per cent of the amount collected, emphasize the importance of the March grand jury's recommendation that the Barrett bail bond law should be re-enacted.

The grand jury, after an exhaustive investigation of the bail bond evil, recommended "that the civic associations of the city of Chicago take action upon the convening of the next legislature and ask for the re-enactment of the Barrett bail bond law."

This law requires that bail bonds be a lien upon real estate. It is designed to eliminate the scheduling of property that is worth only a fraction of the value of the bond, and to provide for the prompt collection of forfeited bonds. When it is realized that less than 1 per cent of the forfeited bonds are now collected, one can readily understand the ease with which criminals obtain security from professional bondsmen for a cash payment, and then vanish, escaping trial, to ply their trade until again arrested and again released.

Collection of the forfeited bonds as provided by the Barrett law will immediately drive professional bondsmen out of the field. They cannot do business if their stock is confiscated on the first forfeiture. Deprived of this ready resource, the criminals must remain in jail until tried, sentenced, or acquitted. That arrangement will reduce their working hours considerably, with corresponding relief to law-abiding citizens.

The grand jury is to be congratulated upon its report, and civic associations will do well to follow the suggestion made.

Editorial of the Day

JUST GERMAN "Cussedness."

[Burton J. Hendrick in the World's Work.]

Gen. Wood was once assigned by the war department to entertain one of several German officers visiting this country. The two men were automobileing one day along the Connecticut coast. Wood lost his way, stopped his machine, and took out his road map. He was trying to find the quickest route to a town to which he and his German friend were making their way.

"If you go ahead a mile, general," said the German, "you will find a good road to the right that will take us there."

The German had never been in the United States before and had never visited that part of the country. "How the devil do you know so much about our roads?" asked the American.

"O, you know, general," the visitor replied, "this is my section of the American coast."

QUICK RELIEF.

Sir: At the request of Near East Relief, my wife has been (and perhaps still is) writing you a line about suffering and sorrowing Armenia. Much publicity has been given to the needs of this stricken nation. The wife of an Armenian rug merchant has just enticed our general household from us by offering her second work at $17 per week. Armenia for the Armenians!

PERHAPS we should transfer our ready relief from the down-trodden Armenians to the down-trodden Kurds. Mr. Williams cables from Constantinople that the gentle Kurds do not dare to come down from the mountains to graze their sheep, as they are no longer protected from the Armenians by Russian soldiers.

Zero in Comparisons.

Sir: Headline in Los Angeles Herald of March 29: "Sunshine Here as Tornadoes Sweep East." The single track mind that wrote that is in the same class as the stranger at the Mormon funeral, who, after waiting vainly for some one to make a few remarks regarding the deceased, after the officiating pastor had issued a general invitation to do so, arose and stated that, as there seemed to be no one present who had anything to say relative to the deceased, he would like to say a few words regarding Los Angeles.

SPEAKING OF THE WEATHER.

Sir: By broaching an uncommon topic out here one can learn the nativity of immigrants. First, when a man says, "This ain't much like Kansas weather," I deduce that he is from Kansas. And so I go through Iowa, Neb. Mo., and other states from which we draw our populace. The native son? Oh, him you can always tell by his motherman's haircut.

BLAZING SANITARY TRAILS.

IN 1870 there were, here and there, sanitarians with minds running far and wide who foresaw and tried to apply some of the methods now so successfully applied by health departments. New York had one, Stephen Smith, and Illinois two, Rauch and Kelly. I have just had an opportunity to read the first report of the California state board of health and find proof that Thomas M. Logan was another of those wonderful old prophets and able givers.

California was very young and crude in 1870; the individualistic pioneer was still influential and his personality dominated. Yet we find Dr. Logan discussing twentieth century medico-sociologic questions. His annual report deals with the use of intoxicating liquors, ventilation, school hygiene, inspection of school children, sewage disposal, water supplies, and social hygiene.

He believed in education of the public in health, and in addition to a series of lectures on "female hygiene." Health departments are just beginning to interest themselves in personal hygiene and on conditions peculiar to the female sex are taboos in most quarters.

Social hygiene was discussed from a different angle. Dr. Logan made a mid-night visit to the Chinese quarter, and as a consequence brought the subject of hygiene before the state board of health. The president of the board objected to his consideration. Nevertheless the board approved the position taken by the secretary.

A little later a paper on the subject was prepared by Dr. Stout at the instance of Dr. Logan, the paper to be read before the California and Nevada legislatures. It appears some member of the Nevada legislature had introduced a bill licensing prostitution.

The bill was divided into four sections, each in charge of a different medical inspector, who were to render free medical service to any inmate asking for it. The money was to be raised by a high licensing fee to be paid by houses of prostitution.

The paper prepared for the legislature opposed the proposal, saying:

"The state that would condescend to draw a profit from the evil which it degrades from dignity. To license is to encourage."

On the other hand, it advocates education of the public and the building of hospitals, dispensaries, and hot springs resorts for the treatment of venereal diseases.

"The question of the social evil resolves itself into the question of public education," the paper said. "In large towns, the venereal disease is a public evil. It is a disease which is spread by venereal disease should be opened, and in counties a county physician should render service to those needing it and not able to pay for it."

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER.

FLAHS LEGION "OBJECTORS."

New York, April 5.—Wade H. Hayes, state commander of the American Legion, tonight made public a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt, national commander, stating the position of legion officers who oppose the proposed adjustment compensation plan, in opposition to the wishes of veterans they represent.

"You are absolutely right when you tell us of the danger to the old soldier of the American Legion—national, state, and post—must, irrespective of their personal opinions, represent the expressed opinion of the membership whom they happen to represent."

"I must confess I have not a great deal of patience with the new type of 'conscientious objector,' who feels his responsibility of leadership to such an extent that he is stating what he personally believes in membership and to whom he ought to think rather than what they really do think and do desire."

SHOULD CLAIM COMPENSATION.

Hammond, Ind., April 2.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—A family I have in mind had a boy in the service who neglected to take out the government insurance. He was not killed in battle, but died of pneumonia while in France. His people are in straitened circumstances and should receive help from the government. I think. Would the government do anything in this case? The parents are getting along in years and would certainly appreciate aid. In the meantime, the boy's insurance policy is in the hands of the insurance company. The parents of the boy should apply for this compensation to the compensation section, bureau of war risk insurance, department of the interior.

WILL CONVERT INSURANCE.

After having the money in December, 1918, I dropped my government insurance. I have just received a letter from the government telling me that I may renew my policy. The insurance is to be paid to me in a lump sum of $10,000 insurance I can convert the policy to a twenty year endowment of $1,000 at a monthly premium of $3.31.

Would this policy terminate twenty years from the date I took out the $10,000 policy or twenty years from the present date?

Would the $1,000 be paid in a lump sum?

The policy will terminate twenty years from the date of the application for the converted policy.

When you convert your insurance you may replace your policy with the insurance on a new basis. The insurance is in a lump sum or in fewer and larger installments. Should you outlive the twenty year period you will receive the $10,000 in a lump sum. If you die before the twenty year period, the insurance will be paid to your heirs.

INSURANCE AND CLOTHING.

Evansville, Ind., April 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I received notice last summer that my application for war risk insurance had been made after the 130 day period had elapsed, it being therefore void, and that premiums paid would be returned. Since then I have received no word in regard to the matter. Where should I write for information concerning same?

2. I turned in my uniform prior to being commissioned, before the rule went into effect. No attention will be given to anonymous letters. To insure a personal reply inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Chicago, April 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inform me what is the date of the 21st of general order No. 20 of the public utilities commission of Illinois, adopted Sept. 24, 1914?

ANSWERING the inquiry of James G. Constant under date of March 25, Bulletin of general order No. 20 of the public utilities commission of Illinois provides that any electric light or power company "shall upon written request for service by a prospective consumer, or a group of prospective consumers located in the same neighborhood, make free of charge a long extension necessary to give service and furnish free service connection; provided, that such extension does not require more than twice as many poles at standard spacing as there are individual applicants." It also provides for extensions above the free limit on payment of a deposit by the applicant to cover the cost of the extension, and the refunding of this deposit as additional consumers are served by this extension. All contracts for service under this rule are for at least one year.

A CITIZEN THOUGH DIVORCED.

Chicago, April 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A Frenchman came to this country five years ago and applied for his first papers. Previously, he was married in France. His wife came two years ago on the demand of her husband. He ran away and she intends to divorce him when the time necessary to establish desertion is over. If he has his final papers before the divorce will she be an American citizen and can she ask to keep this nationality?

1. Section 1004 B. S. U. S. provides that "Any woman who is now or hereafter married to a citizen of the United States, and who might herself be lawfully naturalized, shall be deemed a citizen."

2. Section 4 of the act of March 2, 1907, provides "That any foreign woman who acquires American citizenship by marriage to an American shall be assumed to retain the same after the termination of the marital relation if she continue to reside in the United States."

TOOK ELECTRIC BULBS.

Brookfield, Ill., April 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I sold a house recently, a two flat building, and I took all my electric bulbs along. The people expected me to leave them. Did I do right or not?

This was the third house we moved into and we had to buy all our own bulbs, and I even supplied the tenants with them, but when they moved they took the bulbs. The house was in a suburb and in the city; the electric company did not supply them.

A TIP TO ADVERTISERS.

Christman, Ill., March 31.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wonder if you have fully and finally decided upon the following: "Paper is scarce and high and you cut the size of the country editions. We are not for the large and numerous advertisements." They put the advertisements to get their money into the pockets of the advertisers, they are easier to handle for you; but what about the public? Dozens of instances of the editorial policy of the Tribune, especially the advertisements, are not short and snappy. I for one believe that a greater number would read them if they occupied about 1 to 2 per cent of the front page. The price need not be materially reduced and this would give you room for some much needed space.

The classified advertisements have been cut to "Lost and Found" (in today's paper) and the result is that the advertisements have no reference to any one outside Chicago, so far as I could determine, "Real Estate" and "Automobiles." There may be some necessity to have the realty offerings in the country and in the city, especially the realty offerings, but I for one believe that a greater number would read them if they occupied about 1 to 2 per cent of the front page. The price need not be materially reduced and this would give you room for some much needed space.

HOOVER'S "IF" PUTS JIM JAMS INTO POLITICS

Hand of Col. House in Jump to G. O. P.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover is the Paris in the English room of the Congress hotel Friday afternoon. Mrs. George Bass is expected to return to Chicago from New York next Monday.

James W. Jones of Danville will be the speaker today at the Garlick hotel noonday meeting for a week's tour of the state as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination was cut in half at Springfield tonight and part of his force, including several young women stenographers, was sent back to Chicago.

When the general found on leaving Chicago that a train of six Pullmans had been provided for a party of thirty-seven, including the stenographers, he was wrathful. He had expected a special coach attached to the regular train.

"This does not look much like the economy and thrift I am preaching," he said, declaring he had ridden in automobiles, handcars, or any old thing out in South Dakota, and was insistent that only essential members of the party continue.

All Wanted Lowers. Nathan W. MacChesney, chairman of the state campaign committee, who arranged the tour, explained that men and women who planned to go on the train had all insisted on lower berths. Arrangements were made to go on with two coaches and the diner.

The reaction against such a display of campaign expenditure had been evident previously as the train reached the country towns. Comments were heard at the stations. The farmers counted the coaches and wanted to know what they were for.

Mr. MacChesney made this statement: "As every one knows, we entered the campaign in Illinois much later than our opponents, and it was therefore impossible to present the merits of Gen. Wood to the voters except by what might be called emergency measures. The train itself is only a special train in the sense that it does not run on the regular schedule. Every member of the party, with the exception of a limited working staff, is paying his own fare."

Admit Uphill Fight. Both men and women workers in the party admit they have an uphill fight in the state against Gov. Lowden, but they believe there is a strong undercurrent of Wood sentiment that will show at the polls.

"I'm for Lowden, but that sounds good to me," said a business man at the Rotary club luncheon given to the general at Champaign today as he listened to the candidate's little talk.

Gen. Wood was pleased with his reception everywhere. He does not make a political address. He does not make an appeal to passion or prejudice. His audiences are attentive and he gives them a great deal of food for thought. The basis of it all is the new Americanism. He does not think much of "favorite son" worship. He talks of the necessity of better opportunities for commerce, improvement of farm conditions, taking tax burden from business, getting back to representative government.

Lands Universal Training. Stops were made at Kankakee, Gilman, and Paxton during the morning. At Monticello the opera house was well filled. At Decatur the high school auditorium was packed. At Clinton the courthouse was filled. He stopped at Lincoln and spoke at the armory in Springfield in the evening.

The armory was fairly well filled. Gen. Wood spoke at length on the need of a system of universal military training and said if he had a hundred boys he would put them through it. He was well received by the audience in Gov. Lowden's town. The last time he was here, in February, he was the governor's guest. There was nothing in this situation embarrassing for Wood is not campaigning on personalities nor mud slinging or attacks, but on constructive suggestions.

The Wood party remained here all night. Jacksonville will be the last stop tomorrow.

casual conversation with the first industrial conference unveiled in its entire sessions. This may sound like exaggeration, but it is not, for Hoover talked in terms of essentials.

Bases Theories on Facts. He has a great habit of delving to basic facts and reducing them to form. He bases his theories on the facts, instead of vice versa, as is the custom with some in politics. He's the engineer through and through.

Hoover is a Quaker of husky physique, who began to earn his living when 13 years old, at 30 making more than $50,000 a year, and at 40 was in control of enterprises all over the world employing 150,000 men.

Briefly, he was born in Iowa in August, 1874, the son of Quaker parents. He was an orphan at 8 and went to relatives in Oregon. At 14 he ran away to Portland and for three years worked in a real estate office. By studying at night he was able to enter Leland Stanford university with the "pioneer class" when that institution opened in 1891.

Earned Way Through Stanford. He earned his way through and was graduated as an engineer when 21. He worked in the mines for a time, then took a job typewriting with Louis Janin, foremost mining engineer in the state. At 25 he was manager of a mining property in New South Wales.

Soon he was in China, director of mines for the Chinese government. He was caught in the boxer uprising and had exciting times. He returned to California in 1901, but after a few months headed back for China as manager of works, employing 25,000 men.

He opened offices in San Francisco, New York, and London, visiting all points annually, and until the war broke out in 1914 he was employed as an administrator and advisory expert in concerns in Korea, India, China, Russia, Mexico, Alaska, and the United States. At the time these concerns were employing 150,000 men.

His Work in War. In August, 1914, Hoover was in London when the war broke out. American tourists fleeing from Europe were stranded, and Hoover organized the work of getting the American refugees home. Then came the Belgian relief commission, which grew until it was distributing a ration to 10,000 people at a cost of $17,000 a month, with a fleet of 70 cargo ships and a force of 125,000 employees.

Then came America's entry into the war and the summoning of Hoover by President Wilson to be head administrator to Paris as administrator of the $100,000,000 fund for revivifying the war ravaged countries and as a member of the supreme economic council of the allies. He is still directing the American relief administration children's fund, which is feeding 2,500,000 children in southwest Europe.

Like Balfour, he gets much relaxation through blood and thunder detective stories, and for exercise he likes to stretch his legs in long walks late at night with a bag of peanuts in his pocket.

LIVELY TIME HAD BY ALL AS NEW PARTY STARTS

A new political party, that promises to eliminate profiteers, unscrupulous politicians, and corrupt labor leaders, was mapped out last night in Room 209 Masonic temple. Twenty-one delegates were present and resolutions were adopted calling for the formal launching of the party at a mass meeting in Orchestra hall Saturday afternoon.

W. J. Fitzgerald, representing the North Side Business Men's association, was about to be taken, when Charles H. Mitchell, attorney, jumped to his feet. "Wait," he yelled. "The fourth clause says, 'and there make known to the leaders of the dominant political parties our demand that nominees for high office be men who will serve the people above party.' The Republican party is a blackmailed party and the Democrats are loathsome. I move we strike out the reference."

It was finally decided to leave in the mention of the other parties.

EMMERSON AT CAPITAL WITH LOWDEN LEDGER

Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—Louis L. Emerson, secretary of state of Illinois, came to Washington today, bringing with him the expense accounts of Gov. Lowden's primary campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Mr. Emerson went to Senator Borah's office and offered to throw the books open to public inspection if other candidates would do likewise.

Senator Borah replied that he could not speak for the other candidates. It is understood, however, that both Senator Johnson and Senator Rooder are willing to make a public accounting of their expenditures. The chief obstacle seemed to be the attitude of the Wood boomers, who thus far have declined to make public the campaign account.

'PICK YOUR MAN AT EVEN MONEY IN TODAY'S VOTE'

Aldermanic Result Uncertain to Sharps.

Bets were at even money and you could pick your man when the aldermanic campaign closed last night in the Twenty-first ward. Ald. Earl J. Walker, it was believed by his friends, had a shade the better of the argument against Charles J. Agnew, the city hall candidate. The north side contest easily is the top attraction of the ten aldermanic elections that will be staged today.

While the Brundage and Deneen organizations are now substantially amalgamated behind Ald. Walker, there is some fear on the part of Ald. Walker's friends that the factional fight for ward committeeman that isn't to be settled until a week from today, may have hurt the alderman.

Agnew May Lose Support. In today's election the Democratic organization, headed by John F. O'Malley, will be participating 100 per cent. While it has been the popular supposition that the O'Malley Democrats are decidedly favorable to Agnew, who is understood to have been an intimate cog in the north side election machine, there was talk last night that some of the O'Malley precinct captains propose to vote for Walker.

In any event, the city hall Republican organization and the bulk of the O'Malley Democrats will line up behind Agnew. Ald. Walker's prospects for reelection hinge materially upon the vote that will get out for him that is aligned normally either with the O'Malley Democrats or the Litsinger-Deneen organization.

"Fifty-Fifty Bet." Ald. Dorsey Crowe, one of John F.'s closest friends, said last night: "It's a fifty-fifty bet and I will take either end of it," which is probably a correct statement of the situation.

Next to the Twenty-first ward near riot, the contest in the Fifth ward in the stage center. Here former alderman and now State Representative Thomas A. Doyle is attempting to regain his old council seat and displace present alderman and former Representative Robert J. Mulachy. The M. V. L. is behind Doyle to beat Mulachy and the city hall is working overtime for the latter. Both candidates are Democrats. Doyle declared he would win, but the betting favors the alderman.

Up in the Twenty-seventh ward embracing nearly forty scattered communities on the far northwest side—it is a horseshoe between Newton Jenkins, a returned soldier, and Christ Jensen, backed by the Democratic ward organization. They are fighting for the seat that Ald. Oliver Watson is vacating. Most of the Republican leaders are for Jenkins, but Jensen has made a spirited fight and the result, it is said, is likely to be close.

Bauler Faces a Fight. In the Twenty-second ward on the north side, west of Wells street, there is a brilliant bout between Ald. John H. Bauler and Leo C. Klein. Ald. Bauler is picked to win by the talent, but the finish may be close.

Special police details have been ordered into each precinct of the foregoing three wards by Chief of Police Garrity. Charges and cross charges of probable fraud have been made on behalf of all of the candidates, and for the first time in many elections the authorities are prepared for serious trouble at the polls.

In the remaining wards, where supplementary elections are to be held today, there is a minor degree of interest.

In the Eighth Ald. Furman has a hard fight on his hands, brought on by Thomas I. Green. In the Ninth Ald. Govier is picked to win over Charles V. Johnson, former Socialist alderman. Ald. Novak has trouble in the Twelfth and might lose to Joseph Cepak, but his election is claimed by his friends.

Close in Twenty-fourth. The Twenty-fourth ward fight is likely to be close between Ald. John Haderlein and Joseph A. Weber, former legislator, with the chances favorable to Haderlein, although a tremendous contest has been made in Weber's behalf.

In the Twenty-sixth, Ald. George Pretzel has to face a combination of city hall Republicans and the Democratic ward organization, made behind Thomas R. Casper. This result may be close.

The Eleventh ward is in a class by itself with nine starters in the preliminary election for the Edward F. Cullerton vacancy. Reports from the last night were that Ald. Herman Krumrich is likely to receive a majority of all of the votes today and become thereby the alderman-elect.

RHODE ISLAND DELEGATES GO UNINSTRUCTED

Providence, R. I., April 5.—An uninstructed delegation to the Republican national convention was elected without opposition today by state and district Republican conventions.

Gov. R. Livingston Beeckman was named to head the delegation, with the others being Frederick L. Jencks and Joseph E. Fletcher of North Kingstown and Theophilus Guerin of Woonsocket.

Reaffirmation of the peace treaty, with "such reservations as will fully safeguard America," was the keynote of the platform and of the addresses.

Congressman Pease, one of the speakers, laid the entire responsibility for the failure of the senate to ratify the peace treaty upon President Wilson. He declared there never had been a time since last November when the president could not have ended the war within twenty-four hours had he seen fit to do so.

Weber's Candidacy for Alderman Is Indorsed

Joseph A. Weber's candidacy for alderman in the Twenty-fourth ward was indorsed last night by Frank Rooder, Democratic ward committeeman, who in a public statement said that in his judgment Mr. Weber is the better qualified candidate of the two who are in the running, Mr. Weber and Ald. John Haderlein.

Sweetheart Tells Labor Sluggers She'll Wait for Him Until He Pays Penalty.

LABOR SLUGGER'S CONFESSION WON BY SWEETHEART

Girl to Wait Till He Pays Penalty.

When Ralph Potter, 19 year old confessed labor slugger, has been punished for his part in the strike of the furniture upholsterers' union, Cora Taylor, his 17 year old sweetheart, is going to marry him.

Miss Taylor, for a time the mysterious woman witness in the slugging and bombing case, reassured him on that point last night. Upon her urging Potter made a clean breast of what he knew.

Potter and the girl were arrested at a party Saturday night and taken to the office of Assistant State's Attorney John M. Lowery. Potter was mute under questioning until Miss Taylor spoke.

Promises to Wait. "You know you did wrong, Ralph," she began. "Now tell the truth. Don't worry. I'll wait for you until you get out and then we'll be happy again."

The girl met Potter two years ago and corresponded with him while he served a year and a half in the navy. They planned to marry next December.

"When the strike came along I was working for the Modern Parlor Furniture company," he told Mr. Lowery. "Sam Fisher (now under arrest) asked me to go out with him one night. When we got to the American Upholstering company on the south side he told me they were 'laying for' a foreman who worked there. The man didn't come along so we went back the next night. After that they had the goods on me and I had to go on. When I got out I'm going straight and marry Cora."

Alleged Leader Taken. The alleged leader of the gang of bombers and sluggers, E. E. Graves, international delegate of the union, was arrested at his home in Medford, Mass., yesterday. Mr. Lowery learned. Extradition papers are being prepared to bring him to Chicago for trial.

Six alleged members of the gang were arraigned before Judge Frank H. Graham in the Chicago avenue court yesterday and their cases continued until April 22.

In the Illinois situation substantially is that Mr. Haderlein said: "There would have been a strong and natural support that would have tended to Gen. Wood, possibly, had he refrained from the tactics his Illinois managers have initiated. The Illinois Wood committee, in my judgment, has made it almost impossible for Gov. Lowden's friends to do anything for Wood, in the event Gov. Lowden's nomination becomes impossible."

"Frankly, my people in the military tract don't like the character of the Wood campaign, and it has been made a real impossibility for me to vote for Wood, even if the nomination of Gov. Lowden becomes impossible. That, I understand, is the situation and the view of most, if not all, the men who will be district delegates from Illinois."

WOOD CAMPAIGN IN STATE STIRS LOWDEN FORCES

Illinois Republicans who are candidates for national convention delegates and running as pledged to Gov. Lowden are practically a unit in saying that Gen. Wood's Illinois campaign doesn't help his cause with them.

This was explicitly stated by Everett C. Hardin of Monmouth, who has no opposition for delegate to the Coliseum convention from the Military Tract district, following a conference of Lowden men in Chicago.

"The Illinois situation substantially is that," Mr. Hardin said. "There would have been a strong and natural support that would have tended to Gen. Wood, possibly, had he refrained from the tactics his Illinois managers have initiated. The Illinois Wood committee, in my judgment, has made it almost impossible for Gov. Lowden's friends to do anything for Wood, in the event Gov. Lowden's nomination becomes impossible."

DEFEAT IS URGED FOR $19,500,000 PROPOSED BONDS

Civic Federation Opposes All but One Issue.

The Civic federation made public yesterday a bulletin urging the defeat of three of the four bond issues, upon which the people will ballot a week from today.

The proposed $9,500,000 issue for bridges, $6,000,000 for small parks and playgrounds, and $5,000,000 for a municipal convention hall are condemned on the ground that "there is no such immediate need for these improvements as to necessitate the burdening of citizens to pay for them under existing difficult and unusual conditions."

The federation says: "An emergency exists which prevents us from opposing the projected $15,000,000 bond issue for extension of the electric lighting of city streets."

Taxes Already Too High. The bulletin continues: "Bonds can be paid up in only one way—out of taxes."

"Taxes are very much higher now than ever before in Chicago's history. The present excessively high rents are due in considerable degree to these high taxes."

"Last November the voters approved bond issues totaling about $28,000,000 to improve the appearance of the city."

"On top of the taxes for the ordinary expenses of government, which were greatly increased last year, and which probably will be still further increased this year on account of the issuance of bonds authorized last November, the city now proposes to issue still more bonds."

"Citizens should remember that the bond issues approved last fall carried

POLITICAL NOTES

The committee on arrangements for the Illinois Democratic woman's committee luncheon on April 13 will meet in the English room of the Congress hotel Friday afternoon. Mrs. George Bass is expected to return to Chicago from New York next Monday.

James W. Jones of Danville will be the speaker today at the Garlick hotel noonday meeting for a week's tour of the state as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination was cut in half at Springfield tonight and part of his force, including several young women stenographers, was sent back to Chicago.

Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson of New York will speak for Gen. Wood Friday evening at the Lane Technical High school at a rally for women.

Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania spoke yesterday noon at the Garlick theater for Gen. Wood and last night at the Chicago Beach hotel before an audience of women.

Precautionary measures to avert trouble at the election today were taken yesterday by Chief of Police Garrity, who issued an order calling for three uniformed patrolmen to be on duty in each precinct of the Fifth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second wards. These are the wards in which close contests are expected. In the other wards but one uniformed patrolman will be detailed at each polling place.

The city right up to the limit of indebtedness allowed by the Illinois state constitution.

"To issue bonds under such conditions is unsound financial policy, which is always expensive for citizens."

Oppose Lighting Bonds. Ald. Henry D. Captain of the Twenty-fifth ward and others opposed the street lighting bonds on the ground that "bonds, having been authorized, the tendency was to issue them."

"We have no assurance," Mr. Captain said, "that the margin between the city's bonded debt and its constitutional limitation will be sufficient even to take care of the deficits which are likely to develop in the so-called Chicago Plan issue, authorized last November."

Wood Cuts His Special Train in Half; Wrathful at Display

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—[Special.]—By orders of Gen. Leonard Wood, the special train on which he left Chicago this morning for a week's tour of the state as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination was cut in half at Springfield tonight and part of his force, including several young women stenographers, was sent back to Chicago.

When the general found on leaving Chicago that a train of six Pullmans had been provided for a party of thirty-seven, including the stenographers, he was wrathful. He had expected a special coach attached to the regular train.

For Men and Young Men

A GAIN that event which demonstrates the position of this Men's Store for a new season, in matters concerning clothing, shoes, hats and haberdashery.

The Spring Occasion of 1920 becomes an even more important affair than ever this year, for men of judgment are putting serious thought into their selections as the purchase of clothing becomes more and more an investment of consequence.

Our prices on clothing, shoes, hats and haberdashery for men and young men this season are no lower than it is safe to go, nor higher than consistency permits—but at each price the full worth of every dollar is represented in style, fabric, good workmanship and certain lasting elements that will prove themselves in service.

Come to this Men's Occasion as an authoritative featuring of the newest styles for spring and early summer for men and young men, and come certain that you will be able to accomplish the most with every dollar you invest in clothes.

The Spring Occasion Will Continue Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of This Week.

Entrance, State Street Near Monroe.

MAROON PLAYERS LEAVE TONIGHT ON TRIP TO JAPAN

BY I. L. SANBORN.

Seeking wider, if not greater, worlds to conquer, the University of Chicago baseball team will start tonight on its third quintennial trip to Japan, leaving the other members of the conference nothing to fear from its diamond prowess.

The final practice of the 1920 crudders took place in the cage at Bartlett gym yesterday because their at-bats training camp was snowed under a pure white Easter mantle six inches thick, but H. Orville (nee Pat) Page optimistically declared it was good prep work for his proteges, in view of the indoor drilling to which they would have to accustom themselves for the next three weeks.

Lack of Outdoor Work Handicap.
Their lack of outdoor work will handicap the Maroons when they arrive in the land of the wistaria by comparison with the Midway teams which have preceded them in orienting themselves, because the earlier crusaders have started at the end, instead of the beginning, of the American college baseball season. Moreover, it will be impossible for them to beat the record of their predecessors, who have won twenty-two games in two invasions without suffering a defeat.

In recognition of that handicap Coach Page has been concentrating his spring's training on the offensive by devoting the greater part of the daily drills to batting, whether the weather permitted outdoor or indoor practice.

Trip to Impair Fielders.
It is the theory of the Maroon instructor that the impending ocean voyage will not impair the batting eyes of the players seriously, because nerve and confidence are large factors in that department of the game, but he does expect them to be a little off in the field because of lack of spring training out of doors and the consequent lack of confidence in themselves. The Maroons will have seventeen days on the ocean with only a possible chance to pitch the seams in the deck for practice, they will be given only two days in which to regain their land legs before starting their series with the Nipponese. The number of games to be played depends on who plans their hosts have made for their entertainment, but in 1910 the Midway team won ten straight games and in 1915 they annexed twelve victories without a defeat, consequently the present team has something to shoot for.

Batting Strength O. K.
With good batting strength, however, the invaders will be well equipped for their trip, unless the Japanese have changed their style of baseball entirely since the last international series. Hitherto the islanders have put up a wonderful defense but an erratic offense chiefly notable for its surprises.

When the Maroons board their train at the Union station tonight Coach Page's work will have been completed and the rest of the jaunt will be up to Fred Merrifield, who was captain of the Maroon nine in 1919. The result of this trip will be doubly interesting on that account, because Prof. Merrifield has coached the Japs for three years since the Maroons last invaded their empire and the fruit of that tuition may cut a lot of figure in the results of the coming trip.

Veterans on Team.
The Maroons will be made up largely of veteran collegians and all around athletes capable of adjusting themselves to novel environment on account of their experience in various sports.

In the regular lineup as picked by Coach Page there will be only two players who have not already been subjected to grueling fire. They are Fred at short and Connelly at second. Important cogs those are in the defense, but not more so in a college combat than the batteries, and here the Maroons will have surpassing strength in Capt. Vollmer behind the bat and Herbert Crisler on the slab, both veterans who are familiar with each other's work.

Others to Aid Crisler.
The rest of the regulars, Mochel at third, Curtiss on first, and Hinkle, Cole, and Elton in the outfield, are veterans on whom the hurlers can depend. With four games a week to be played in Japan, Crisler cannot do all the slugging, but will have good assistance from Palmer and Halliday, right handers, and Geertsma, southpaw.

Woods and Waters.
LARRY ST. JOHN
BAD NEWS FOR QUARRY ANGERS.

L. F. FRIEND, expert quarry fisherman, reports serious conditions in many of the quarries between Chicago and Joliet. He says: "Hundreds of fish lie on the banks or floor, in the water, including carp weighing up to 30 and 35 pounds, black and silver bass, many large ones, blue gills, sunfish, and bullheads, all in a state of putrefaction. What is to be seen at an idea of the catastrophe as many of the dead fish have been removed. A farmer in the vicinity of Lambert—formerly Sag—has taken three wagon loads of fish for his pigs. These conditions do not exist in all of the quarries, only those where the ice was not cut. But in these it is doubtful if there is any living thing that was not smothered. This will force you Chicago red fish to start your prospecting anew and many of those who had a little secret quarry that delivered the goods last year may be doomed to disappointment. But try it. Chicago. The large quarries are alive with fish and my experience in these waters, covering a period of ten years, has taught me that the bad weather fishermen get the best. I have had most success in April and November with a pork rind rig or small, deep diving plug."

Bad news and mighty good advice.
Now if you quarry anglers will investigate your favorite quarry and find that it has been hit, tell us about it, giving exact location, and we will try to have it restocked. Our nearby quarries are too good fishing waters to be fishless and the policy of our state fisheries department is to keep them stocked with game fishes.

RAIN STOPS PENN-CORRELL GAME.
Philadelphia, Pa., April 5.—The University of Pennsylvania baseball team was unable to play its opening game with Cornell here today, on account of rain.

COLLEGE BASEBALL.
WHETHER college bred athletes should adopt baseball as a profession after leaving their alma mater always has been a moot question on the campus. Professors generally, and many coaches, have espoused the negative.

Prof. Stagg of the University of Chicago once expressed himself strongly. His thought, as The Wake interpreted it, was that a collegian had prepared for more useful work for which his education fitted him, and possessed few advantages not enjoyed by the corner lot player without a higher education.

Fritz Steinbrecher, one of Stagg's greatest catchers, refused after graduation an offer of $4,000 per year from Pittsburgh and entered the real estate business at one-fourth the compensation. He figured his years in baseball would only delay his business career, and played the future rather than the present.

As a matter of fact, the college player, under the present amateur requirements, is rather at a disadvantage as compared with the pro player. The college season ends early, in June. Without running the risk of suspicion or possible disbarment from his college, team he cannot play ball with semi-pros during the summer. He is thus deprived of more than three months' experience and practice. The pro player has no such handicap.

Eddie Collins of the White Sox and George Sisler, ex-Michigan, of the Browns are probably the two most prominent collegians now in the game. Collins while at Columbia played summers under an assumed name until it became almost public knowledge, and his campus diamond career ended. Collins has been playing many years and is supposed to receive $15,000 salary per year. Even in these days of H. C. L. that sum is worth considering.

Jake Stahl, once a great baseball and football star at the University of Illinois, played in the pro ranks and was manager of the Boston Red Sox world's championship team of 1912. He retired early enough to enter business and is now president of the Washington Park National bank.

Christy Mathewson was a Bucknell football and baseball star. He amassed a comfortable fortune from his investments made from baseball earnings. Wall street tips from brokers are said to have accounted for part of his success.

The question of professional baseball for a college athlete is one for the individual to decide. Plenty of pros and cons may be advanced.

This Wake is conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help!
Anxious—No, the chukker in polo is not a pitcher. It's polo lingo for a period of play.

May Hold Two Marathons to Select Olympic Team
New York, April 5.—[Special.]—Suggestions have been made to the Olympic committee that, to determine the American representatives in the Belgian marathon, it would be well to hold a race separate from the Boston classic, which always has been considered as determining the national marathon championship. If it is decided to hold this separate tryout, the event would be scheduled for early in May, only a week or two after the Patriots' day race. It would also be held over the Ashland to Boston course.

LIBERTY AND JUNIOR LEAGUES MEET.
The Liberty and Junior Ball leagues meet tonight at 128 West Randolph street. The Liberty boys will meet at 6:30 and the Juniors at 8. Managers and players are invited to attend.

STARS ON I. A. C. TEAM TO START IN SWIMS FOR TITLES ON COAST

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
The makeup of the Illinois A. C. water polo and swimming team, which will leave for the coast Monday to compete in the National A. A. U. water polo and 400 yard relay championships April 28 to May 1, inclusive, was announced yesterday by Instructor Bachrach.

The relay team will be composed of Perry McGilvray, Harry Heber, D. L. Jones, and Norman Ross. Ross is now in Portland and will proceed from there to the scene of the championships. This quartet is capable of averaging close to 55 seconds for the distance and is certain to make a strong bid for the title.

Extra Players for Polo.
Because of the keen competition which the polo team will receive it has been decided to carry two extra players. The polo team will be selected from the following well known players: McGilvray, Wallen, Heber, Roth, Jensen, Jones, Towne, Francis, McDermott, Koop, Miller, and Handy.

Practice in Stanford Tank.
The team will use the Leland Stanford tank for practice and may engage in some polo games with the collegians. The water games will be conducted by the Pacific association of the A. A. U. and will be held in various pools. The 400 yard relay will be decided under the auspices of the Olympic club, San Francisco.

SPORT BRIEFS

RICHMOND, Va.—The managers of the world champion Reds and Washington Americans called off their joint exhibition trip here. Both teams started for their respective cities. The players, it is said, had grown tired of miserable traveling conditions and undesirable weather and were on the point of mutiny when the decision to cancel the trip was reached.

ASHVILLE, N. C.—Another idle day was the lot of the Giants and Red Sox, colder weather and a snowfall making necessary the cancellation of the game. To date the clubs have played eleven, of which the Giants have won eight. Another move has been made by Ed Barrow toward consummating a deal with the Yankees. Having rejected Miller Huggins' terms, which were Pratt, Eddie and Hannab for Schang, Vitt and McNally or a pitcher, Barrow has come back with terms of his own. He says he will trade Vitt for Pratt and Bodie and further than that he will not go.

CALEXICO, CAL.—Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion pugilist, talked with Sheriff Applestall of Imperial county and arranged to have the sheriff take him personally into custody when Johnson crosses the international to meet federal charges pending against him at Chicago.

MILWAUKEE.—Auggie Kleofcher won the final block of his three cushion match with Pierre Maupome, 50 to 43, in sixty-three innings, taking the match 300 to 282. Maupome had a run of 9; Kleofcher getting 7.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—The Yankees finished a bad second to the Robins, 9 to 8, here. The victory gives the Dodgers a big edge on the series, which now stands 6 to 3 in their favor.

CUBS REGULARS SET FOR CONTEST TODAY WITH PHOENIX TEAM

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5.—[Special.]—The Cub regulars, with Manager Mitchell in charge, paused here today for a few hours before resuming their journey to Phoenix, Ariz., where they stage an exhibition game tomorrow. There is not a single crimp in the squad, although Hollister's hand still pains somewhat when he catches a hard grounder.

Dave Robertson is the only regular outside of Killefer who has not been laid up this spring with something or other. Last season he was bothered with a bad leg, and as soon as he reaches Philadelphia he intends to get a brace, which he will wear during the games. He proposes to take no chances on a return of the ailment. Mitchell will use Pitcher Bailey against the Phoenix team and will let him go the full route if he looks good. Merkle, who manages the Yankigans at Reno tomorrow, said he would give Joel Newkirk the hurling job.

Stecher's Scissors Hold Flops Drash in Hurry
Raleigh, N. C., April 5.—Joe Stecher, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, successfully defended his title tonight against Tommy Drash of the Netherlands. Stecher took two falls, each with a body scissors and arm lock, the first in one hour and ten minutes, and the second in one minute.

NEW CLUBS FOR BOYS' LEAGUE.
The Chicago Boys' Baseball league met at 128 West Randolph street, and six clubs were granted memberships.

DAUBERT OUT OF GAME; SUFFERS BROKEN HAND

CINCINNATI, O., April 5.—The world's champion Reds must start their season without Jake Daubert, who didn't miss a game at first base last season. He was hit on the back of the hand by George Morigio of the Yankees in an exhibition game. Examination under the X-ray has shown that two bones are broken. It will be a month before Jake can get back in the game. A youth named Joe Meyer from the South Atlantic league is the only available substitute.

Hope British Golf Stars Will Come to U. S. to Play

New York, April 5.—[Special.]—Although announcement has come from abroad that neither Abe Mitchell nor George Duncan will visit America this summer, it became known today that golf officials had not given up hope. In some circles there is a strong feeling, because of recent correspondence with English golf officials, that both may reconsider and that they may join Harry Vardon and Ted Ray to compete in the national open at Toledo.

Steps Taken to Form New State Conference

Peoria, Ill., April 5.—Ten colleges and universities in Illinois were represented today when steps were taken for the organization of a new athletic conference. The Little Nineteen and Little Five will be merged and the smaller institutions allowed to form a circuit of their own. A permanent organization will be formed at a second meeting to be held here April 12.

SOX LOSE, 8 TO 7, AT SHREVEPORT; GAME WON IN 9TH

Shreveport, La., April 5.—[Special.]—Ray Schaik untied the game for the Sox in the eighth inning today, but the local club of the Texas league came along in the ninth and poled in two runs. In consequence of this the Sox lost, 8 to 7.

The battle was a free hitting affair. Spencer Heath, Chicago boy, started pitching and lasted five rounds, during which eight substantial hits were made. Shreveport laid back for a slow curve he fed on the inside of the plate and then crashed the apple far and wide. Williams finished and was hit for two safeties and a sacrifice fly and gave a walk in the final round, so the home folks went to supper satisfied.

Jackson and Felsch Hit Pill.
Jackson and Felsch continue hitting the ball hard. The general cracked a double and a triple, while Felsch collected two doubles and a single. Schaik got a double and a single in addition to the homer which untied the score in the eighth, but the remainder of the Sox could not operate the war clubs to any good effect.

Shreveport, next to Fort Worth, provided the best competition encountered thus far on the trip. Billy Smith has collected a bunch of fast athletes and the Sox soon learned they were in a real ball game.

Sox Go to Little Rock.
The club caught a 7 o'clock train after swallowing a few bites of supper and rumbled over to Little Rock. Heath's showing today was not extremely impressive. He appeared to have plenty of stuff, but his control was so good he struck the opposing bats too often.

White Sox Goofs Lose to Oklahoma City, 11 to 5
Oklahoma City, Okla., April 5.—The White Sox Goofs were trimmed here today in a free hitting affair by the Oklahoma City team, 11 to 5. Recruits Stewart and Tesar did the hurting for the big leaguers, and were hit hard. Covington and Stomer pitched against the visitors. The Goofs play at Okmulgee, Okla., tomorrow.

Alice in Wonderland Coming to Help Out the Bryn Mawr Fund

There is excitement among the little folk of society this morning. Cards received in the mail announce that "Alice in Wonderland" will be here one day next Saturday with White Rabbit and the Red Queen, the Gryphon, the weeping Mock Turtle, and the Mad Hatter, and the Cheshire Cat with its smile, and the smile without its cat.

"Father William does turn a back somersault in at the door and balance on his head the end of his nose. And all the others are there, too. Come and see them at the Playhouse Saturday morning at 11 o'clock."

The proceeds of the movie performance will go to the Bryn Mawr college fund. Tickets, which are $1.50 and $1.00, may be obtained at Lyon & Hays's or from Miss Rebecca Hickman, 1811 Astor street.

The patronesses for the performance are Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. Moses Westworth, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, Mrs. John H. Gaudin, Mrs. Edward H. Brewer, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. John Borden, Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Mrs. Howard Linn, and Mrs. Edward S. Ryerson Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gary of Hubbard Woods entertained a party of young people at the supper dance in the grill room of the Blackstone Saturday night for their son, Kellogg, who is home from Hill school for the Easter vacation. They guests included Marjorie King, Bertha Honore, Margaret Kelley, Arthur Meekley Jr., Victor Elting Jr., and Thomas Denchley Jr.

The last of a series of spring talks under auspices of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will be given this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Ethel Wrenn, 1500 Astor street. Mrs. Theodore G. Soares will have for his subject "Is This a Time to Be Afraid?"

A card party for the benefit of the College Bureau of Occupations will be given by the Vassar Alumnae Association at the Blackstone Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to today at the College club. Mrs. William H. Bush is president of the association. The Misses Judith Cattell, Katherine McMillen, and Mildred Dennis are in charge of the party.

Chicago chapter of St. Mary-of-the-Woods alumnae will give a dance to-day at the Congress hotel for the benefit of St. Columbian's nursery. Mrs. Charles E. Brown and little daughter, Betty, have returned from a visit at Atlantic City. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will give up the Charles H. Russell apartment at 199 Lake Shore drive the middle of the month and will take their residence in Lake Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Brown Jr. expect to move into the house which Mr. Brown built in Lake Forest.

Miss Lydia Beckwith will return tomorrow to her studies at Bryn Mawr, spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Black of 222 East Delaware place.

Announcement: It is made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James C. Higgins Jr. of 45 East Schiller street. Mrs. Daniel Peterkin of 4815 Drexel boulevard returned yesterday from a fortnight's stay at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

St. Olaf College Choir Opens Tour with Concert Here

BY W. L. HUBBARD.

The concert in Orchestra hall last night by the St. Olaf Lutheran choir attracted a large audience and proved an entertainment of exceptional musical worth and beauty.

The choir which numbers some fifty-two men and women under the leadership of M. Melius Christensen comes from St. Olaf's college in Northfield, Minn., and a tour which is to include the principal cities of the east was commenced with this concert. If the singing offered throughout the tour be of such quality as was that of last night, the reputations of both choir and its leader will hold high place in the choral world by time the homecoming is accomplished.

The choir sings exceptionally. The voices are beautiful in their freedom of emission, their roundness and their purity, and all seem to possess a suggestion of freshness and out-dooriness that involuntarily creates visions of wide plains, big forests and clear air.

The voices are the singing voices of the Scandinavian with the tang and freshness that so often distinguish such. And these voices are admirably trained. They are true as a bell and they respond with the same certainty, exactness and clarity. The tone is capable of finest gradations ranging from ringing forte to an exquisitely soft piano, and the soft tones are just as pure, just as true as the loud. The voices blend perfectly thus making the total mass invariably a delight.

Musically and interpretatively, too, the choir stands on high level. The diction is such that every word is clearly and easily intelligible, and in the handling of either massed or solo monies or in the weaving of polyphonic lines the singers do exceptional work. The program was purely sacred in musical matter, but it nevertheless interested and held the hearers because of the rare manner in which every number was sung.

MRS. JOSEPH PENN CAROLAN

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Penn Carolan of 6169 Winthrop avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Etta Virginia Martin, to Joseph Penn Carolan. The wedding took place March 19. Mr. and Mrs. Carolan returned last Sunday from a honeymoon in the east and are living at 277 Park avenue, River Forest. Mr. Carolan is the son of County Commissioner Joseph Carolan and is assistant to Ransom E. Kennicott, chief forester for the forest preserve district.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Planting and Cooking Chayote. LOS ANGELES, Cal.—[Special correspondence.]—There are a goodly number of foods besides grapes and beans which may be grown arborwise. A Los Angeles seed catalogue I have been joyfully studying tells how to grow and cook the chayote, a box of which I saw already sprouting. Freezing the sprout does no harm. It will sprout again. The whole vegetable is put into the ground slantingly, with the big ends down and sprouting a bit of small end exposed.

We have had this vegetable in our own stores by the bushel, but only for a season or two. Here it is used from October to March. It will grow with us, for "the vine is a rampant grower." The first year from seed it will grow twenty to thirty feet. Destroyed to the ground by frost, it will soon send out new growth, and during the second season will extend vines forty or fifty feet in every direction. During September it starts blooming, having a small, white, insignificant flower. Within four weeks the fruit is large enough for the table. One vine if properly trained will produce more than one thousand fruit.

Here are some of the ways given for cooking this vegetable: "parboil, chop, and casserole with tomato, onion, and green peppers. Fry as egg plant. Prepare as summer squash. Use small ones, without peeling, boil until tender, cut in half, put a small lump of butter, a little sugar, salt, and pepper on each one. Put in oven a few minutes."

"For larger ones, peel and cut into cubes and boil; when done, drain, add butter and season, and fry in pan. Let simmer until butter browns. Just before serving pour a tablespoon of vinegar over them."

"Parboil young ones and serve as salad with mayonnaise dressing or with boiled dinner."

Other recipes given are for chayote cooked Spanish style, also breaded for a chayote pudding, and for cooking with lemon, make a fine "apple" sauce.

DOROTHY STRAUSS TO BECOME BRIDE OF ROBERT RUBEL

This spring many a young man's fancy might be "lightly turning to thoughts of snow" if he were to see Dorothy Strauss, who is to become the bride of Robert Rubel, a son of Mrs. Charlotte Rubel of 4734 Ingleside avenue.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Strauss of 5492 South Shore drive announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Strauss, to Robert Rubel, who is a son of Mrs. Charlotte Rubel of 4734 Ingleside avenue.

Hotel Men Foresee End to Home Life Within a Decade

Man within the ensuing decade will revert more and more to the altitudinous mode of existence of his arboreal ancestor in the matter of domicile. The skyscraper hotel will be the thing. The high speed of living is making him a transient creature, and there is the excessive expense of cooks and servants and an aversion from the detail of maintaining the comfortable, old-fashioned home or even the spacious apartment.

That is the dictum of the American Hotel association members, who convened in Chicago yesterday for a two-day session. President W. N. Robinson delivered the inaugural address. Other speakers were J. K. Blatchford, secretary; Edward M. Tierney of New York, and C. C. Horton of Clinton, Ill.

DRAINAGE BOARD IS SUED BY FIVE FOR $1,750,000

Contractors Ask Pledged War Prices on Sewer.

Five suits, totaling $1,750,000, were filed in the Superior court yesterday against the sanitary district of Chicago by five contracting companies, which ask for "fair value for constructing certain sections of the Calumet intercepting sewer and Sag channel.

The plaintiffs and the amounts they ask are: A. G. Gifford company, $500,000; T. J. Forchheimer & Co., $300,000; Nash Bros., $225,000; Byrne Bros. Construction company, $425,000; and Nash-Dowd company, $400,000.

The bills were filed by Attorneys Winston, Strawn, and Shaw.

Lawyer Explains Suits.
James H. Winston made the following statement:

"The original contracts for the Calumet intercepting sewer, made in 1916, when this country was at peace, were based upon prices then current for labor and material. Each provided if the contractors should be obstructed by war completion of the work might be postponed.

"When this country entered the war the prices of labor and material were nearly doubled, and it was impossible to get either on account of the government's requirements for munition plants and shipyards.

"Our clients declare that, in pursuance of their rights under the contracts, they notified the sanitary district at the outbreak of the war that they would suspend operations until return of normal times.

Pledge Added Costs.
"But the trustees, who had the responsibility of getting the sewers completed, realized the postponement might be indefinite, and that the time would come when the health of the city would be jeopardized unless the sewerage from the south portion of the city could be diverted from Lake Michigan. Further, the district would be losing interest on the investment, which would amount to $500,000 each year.

"For these reasons the trustees induced the contractors to forego their right to postpone the work by promising to pay the additional cost of doing it under abnormal war conditions.

"The sewer is now completed, but the sanitary district has repeatedly refused to make any payment to the contractors."

WAR VETERAN, 21, SCORNS BY GIRL,
DIES BY POISON

Following a quarrel with his sweetheart, John Strickler, 21 years old, the son of Mrs. J. J. Mahoney, of 156 Hill street, committed suicide Saturday morning by shooting himself with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver in a hotel at Aurora. He purchased chloroform and drank it, after locking the door of his room. He left no note.

The girl is Miss Stella McClain of Aurora. She met Strickler last August, soon after his discharge from the Fort Sheridan hospital, where he had been treated for shellshock. He had $300 at that time, his mother said. All of it had been spent.

The quarrel is STELLA M. MCCLAIN said to have been and J. R. STRICKLER caused by another man. Strickler saw Miss McClain with him on Saturday and remonstrated. She rebuked him for "unwarranted interference with my affairs," and he left her with the remark, "I'll get even," according to the story.

Mrs. Mahoney said her son had served overseas in the 52d infantry and had participated in a number of major engagements.

SUBCOMMITTEES
TAKE UP SOLDIER
BONUS PROBLEM

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Five subcommittees were named by the house ways and means committee today to consider various phases of the soldiers' bonus problem. Representative Fordney of Michigan, chairman, expressed the belief that a bill would be agreed upon within three weeks and that legislation would be enacted before the June recess of congress.

The committee which will consider the question of cash bonuses is composed of Representatives Fordney, Greer of Iowa, Longworth of Ohio, Republicans, and Kitchin of North Carolina and Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Democrats.

Many doubt if the bonus legislation will pass more than one house before the June recess.

BRITTEN TO WAGE
ARMY-NAVY PAY
FIGHT IN HOUSE

Washington, D. C., April 5.—(Special.)—Representative Britten of Illinois will carry his fight for increased pay for the army and navy to the floor of the house.

Conferees of the senate and house on the pay bill disagreed today, and the house conferees decided to ask additional instructions from the house. Mr. Britten, as one of the conferees, will urge that the house accept a compromise measure providing for increases all along the line as a substitute for the Kelley bill, which applied only to enlisted men and petty officers of the navy.

Next Year's Pension Bill Amounts to $214,020,000

Washington, D. C., April 5.—A $214,020,000 pension bill was presented today in the house. Those benefiting under it number 824,427.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

While existing conditions last there is too much uncertainty as to the course of the corn and oats markets to make it safe for an extension of commitments on either side, especially corn. The trade is too much disposed to accept the various rumors without thinking of their truthfulness to make it safe for any but the strongest interests, so conservative men say. The surplus advanced in the last hour was attributed to covering by shorts who found limited offerings.

The basis for the recent advance to the highest levels of the season remains unchanged, and is expected to be for some time to come, as the railroad situation is not such as to create a movement of sufficient proportions to cause a large accumulation, and until it is a reality those who sell futures at big discounts under the cash grains are expected to be kept uneasy. The market swings from an overbought to an over-sold condition, creating sharp fluctuations at times.

Disquieting rumors were affixed last night which may have an important bearing on the action of the grain markets early today.

Despite the break in oat futures early on selling of several large local lots, cash premiums remained high, with light offerings. No. 2 white was 10c 11c and No. 3 white 8c to 10c over May. Louisville and other Ohio river points were buyers of wheat, but no movement was made. A good buyer of futures. A message from Memphis said they had sold all their No. 3 white cash oats at $1.08, and could have sold more.

An official of the board of trade says which may have an important bearing on the action of the grain markets early today. The board has been bearish and short. An investigation will find that the supply and demand situation was so strong that the advance could not be sustained and supplies can be obtained in greater quantities the probabilities are that the advance may be carried further.

Board of trade directors are expected to take up the daylight saving plan that the board have favored on the trade here at their meeting today.

CASH GRAIN
NEW S

Shipping sales at Chicago Monday were 47,000 bu oats and 3,000 bu barley. The wheat market was 200,000 bu by rail had been sold at equal to 21c for export and 21c for last May shipment. Exporters sold 20,000 bu No. 4 wheat at $2.64 at the Gulf, while bids of $2.82 1/2, track New York, were made here for No. 2 red and hard winter. Milwaukee sold 25,000 bu for export and 15,000 bu for domestic use.

Uncertainty about the switchmen's strike caused a slow demand for cash corn and oats, the former being 10c lower, while oats were unchanged to 1/2c. Cash grain prices in leading markets follow:

General Motors.

J. L.—The report of the General Motors corporation for 1919, is expected to show about $37.00 a share earned on each of the 1,480,152 old shares of $100 par value. The report has not yet been completed. Recently the stock has been changed to 100 shares for ten shares before and changed for each old one. The stock, of course, has large value, but it has been manipulated in the market and at present price is highly speculative.

American Smelting and Refining.

A. L., Cairo, Ill.—The American Smelting and Refining company reduced its common stock to a 4 per cent dividend for the year 1919. Earnings in 1919 amounted to $1.25 per share. The company has 24 per cent of the $60,998,000 common stock compared with 52-3 in 1918.

FREE BASIC LAW OF STRIKE CURBS, UNIONS PLEAD

Labor Chiefs to Address
"Con Con."

Representatives of union labor will appear before the constitutional convention at Springfield tomorrow to advocate provisions safeguarding the right of labor to strike without hindrance through injunction or compulsory arbitration, Victor C. Olander, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, said yesterday.

"Owing to the use of injunctions by the government during the coal strike and the legislation passed in Kansas, which takes from the worker the right to strike, we have found it necessary to ask that a section be included in the basic law of the state which will make such occurrences impossible in future," Mr. Olander stated.

Send Strongest Speakers. "We are sending to Springfield the strongest speakers we can find, headed by Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's union, and Matthew Wall, president of the International Photo Engravers, who will represent Samuel Gompers and the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor.

"These men will present the case of labor to the convention, and they will have the backing of every union man in the state in their efforts to assure labor unions the future they deserve."

Will Not Fight for I. and R. Mr. Olander said that while labor was interested in other issues before the convention, such as the initiative and referendum propositions, that no fight would be made in favor of them, as they preferred to concentrate all their strength on proposition 232, which gives labor the right to organize and strike without interference through injunction.

They will also protest against the abolition of existing state boards of mediation and placing matters in dispute before judicial officers.

The delegation will include J. P. Frey, editor of the Moulders' Journal; John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; George Perkins, head of the cigar makers, Frank Farrington, the mine workers' head, and John Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

DARTMOUTH HEAD IS AMAZED BY 'REBEL STRIKE'

E. M. Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, addressed Chicago alumni of that institution at the Hamilton club last night. Dr. Hopkins is making a tour of the western states and dressing Dartmouth alumni on the work being done at their alma mater.

An authority on industrial relations he expressed surprise that "a small group of rebels" could influence the railroad switchmen here to strike "in violation of their leaders' orders."

"I have always been a supporter of labor," he declared, "but I'm beginning to change my beliefs as I learn of such actions as the railroad strike in Chicago."

Two Bridgetenders Lose Their Ultra Quiet Jobs

The peace and tranquility in the neighborhood of One Hundred and Sixth street and the Calumet river cost two city bridge tenders—George E. Covey and Thomas Abbott—their jobs yesterday. The trial board found that on a number of occasions they did not stretch a chain across the street before swinging the bridge. They reported such labor was usually superfluous.

of the union. He said he had learned that between 150 and 200 of his men are out.

"My advice is that they had better return to work," he said. "The strike is illegal and they are not supposed to take part in it. They are expected by the union to comply with their contract. None of our road men are out. The strikers are former conductors who retained their affiliation with the order after they went to work in the yards."

Grunau Says "We'll Win."

John Grunau, leader of the insurgents, declared the strikers are able financially to stay out a month, if necessary to win. He renewed his claim that 15,000 switchmen had quit in the Chicago district.

"We can't lose," he predicted confidently at Conway's hall, Western and Lake streets, where about 600 strikers had gathered. "The roads are tied up and the lies of the bosses and the so-called 'regulars' will not relieve the freight congestion. We have no less than 15,000 of the men with us and that means nearly every switchman in the Chicago district."

"We are prepared for this fight and have a big fund. The fact that we were able to hire six halls for our meetings today should be sufficient proof. I say we can't lose because if our terms are not met the men will simply go to work in the big factories, where they will make $3 a day more and work less hard for their money."

General Yardmaster Quits.

Announcement that half of the passenger switchmen in the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy coach yards at Sixteenth street had quit brought yells of approval from several hundred strikers in a meeting at California avenue and Madison street.

A. J. Kelly, day general yardmaster at the Chicago and Northwestern yards, Crawford avenue and Kinzie street, went on strike, calling out his six assistants. They were followed out by Lloyd C. Bunch, night yardmaster, and a like number of assistants. This was declared to be the first case where the yardmaster quit with the men. Clerks, office officials, and retired switchmen with varied degrees of experience replaced the men and yardmasters.

The Plymouth, Wis., cheese board, termed the national market for this dairy product, adjourned a week because of the rail strike at Chicago, according to telegraphed advices.

5,000 ILLINOIS AND KANSAS COAL MINERS STRIKE

Dissatisfied with the New Wage Award.

Five thousand coal miners in Illinois and Kansas went on strike yesterday because of dissatisfaction with award of wage awards. Peril of a general coal shortage, which the nation faced last fall as a result of which millions of dollars were lost in business, railroad and ocean shipping, loomed up.

Dispatches from various sections of the Illinois bituminous field indicate that twenty mines have been closed by the walkout. Three thousand miners in Madison and Macoupin counties quit.

Two thousand men employed at ten mines in Kansas have thrown down their tools. W. L. Huggins, president of the Kansas state industrial court, has called all local presidents of the unions to appear before him today in Pittsburg, Kas.

May Hit Light Company.
The strike may seriously affect the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and the Commonwealth Edison company, according to officials of the company. The Peabody Coal company, which supplies the electric light company, has its mines at Kincaid and Stoughton, where all of the men are reported to have quit.

Mines at Staunton and Benid are owned principally by the Northwestern line and supply the fuel for locomotives of that railroad. Miners at Gillette and Johnson City also walked out.

New Wage Fixed March 31.
"It may seem strange," William H. Fisher, president of the Northwestern railroad, declared last night, "but I have received no information of a strike. I understood the workers were all satisfied with the award of the commission."

A new wage scale for bituminous coal miners was arranged at a joint session of coal operators and union officials in New York on March 31. The scale is believed to have been started by mine car drivers, who were given a 20 per cent increase in wages while others were awarded a 27 per cent least.

More Ohio Miners Idle.
New Philadelphia, O., April 5.—Only one of Tuscarawas county's mines was in operation today as the result of 300 men joining the ranks of the miners who walked out Friday. The men said they are dissatisfied with the increase over their present wages of 14 1/2.

Refuse to End Strike.
Wheeling, W. Va., April 5.—Three thousand eastern Ohio coal miners who went on strike last Friday refused to enter the mines today in spite of the efforts of union leaders to have the men call off the walkout. The miners expressed dissatisfaction with the manner in which the 27 per cent wage increase was applied.

BOY THROWS OUT DAD'S GEMS; $150 IS GIVEN FINDER

Three year old Jimmie Mondl, son of W. J. Mondl of 5324 Washington boulevard, was playing in his father's bedroom Thursday morning.

A discussion on the dresser caught his eye, and a pin that sparkled like snow at noonday. Jimmie pulled the pin out and played with it. That night Jimmie's father missed his pin. He searched the house over. Finally he asked Jimmie about it. "I JIMMIE MONDL, threw it out a window," said Jimmie. The father offered a $150 reward for the return of a double horseshoe pin with twenty-nine stones, and an honest woman who found it on the sidewalk returned it.

CITY DIGS OUT OF SNOW; FRUIT CROPS ARE HURT

Chicago began digging itself out of the drifts yesterday. Surface lines and elevated service was normal, but vehicular traffic was impeded. The weather man promises rising temperature for today, with possibly a light snow or rain.

Although unofficial reports from downstate were that crops had suffered heavily by cold and frost Saturday and Sunday, John C. Vaughn, Chicago seed man, said he had not been apprised of any damage. He did learn ten days ago, he said, that fruit crops in central Illinois were far advanced, which would tend to affirm the reports of damage to buds.

Considerable damage was reported to apple, plum, and cherry buds in the Missouri river valley, and Chicago's sources of early spring strawberries—Louisiana, Florida, and southern Texas—were hard hit by frost.

4,000 Will Bid Father McCabe Good-By Tonight

Four thousand members of his parish will gather in the auditorium of De Paul university at 2225 Sheffield avenue tonight to bid farewell to the Very Rev. Francis X. McCabe, C. M., president of the university and rector of St. Vincent's church. Father McCabe will leave Friday to take up his new duties as rector of St. Vincent's parish in Kansas City.

"THE ROYAL VAGABOND"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MR. COHAN'S way with the old time comic opera is rough but pleasing, as it was illustrated last night at the Colonial in "The Royal Vagabond."

He takes this decorous cantata from Budapest or thereabout, and, submitting it to agreeable Broadway indignities, turns it into what is known as a snappy show. "The Royal Vagabond" was, at birth, a romantic thing with sycophants in it, a melodious colonel of hussars, and an aged innkeeper (with squeaky voice and stooped shoulders) whose lyric female offspring was beloved by Prince Stefan, a curdled darling and a baritone.

It still is, for that matter, but Mr. Cohan has poured the cynical spices into its saucy apertures and made it rather a savory satire. It is said that after seeing its first performance in Washington he was troubled because it was so sweet. But as he was ordering it to the stateroom he recalled several, to him, excruciating speeches. Among them was the remark of the defiant prince with the plumed hat and the purple lights to his imperious mother: "Even a queen cannot rule the hearts of her subjects!" And the wail of the tall hussar to his royal innamorata: "You are a princess and I but a common soldier!"

With these and other promising foundations all that Mr. Cohan had to do was to add the familiar line about the Brooklyn Elk, to enliven the dreamy tempo of the score, keep the band playing and the chorus dancing all the while, and, like a cave man, to hit with the snarled wheeze the bean of sentimentality almost every time it peeped up in the plot.

This is a rude and an ideal fashion in which to deal with the sentimental horrors of opera comique. Mr. Cohan retains the melodies, the picturesque dress and settings, and much of the fable of "The Royal Vagabond," and he gives it all the swift and perceptive light and thumb-nose of the true Broadway satirist. What a beguiling pedigree! Book by Sainnyay and Cohan, music by Cohan and Goetz!

The players of "The Royal Vagabond" I should say, after looking over the available field are the best. Leon Newbold is the acclaimed actor, and his humorous variations upon Ko Ko's "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," though I did not hear them, I believe to be without defect, because I recall him in his early Aborn days, when he was very good. Frederic Santley, as a Magyar prince, smiles in the right places and is handsome; and, if you are in the Cohan mood, which, of course, you are, you will find it nicely caught by Roger Gibson, as the windy barkeeper, and by Lewis Simon as the funny apothecary.

There are prima donnas galore—Miss Frances Demarest, Miss Grace Daniels, and Miss Virginia O'Brien, the last of whom sings now and then a tempting song about love and cherry blossoms. The best dancing of its kind that I recall is done by Lewis Sloden and a quick and comely little person named Edna Pierre, who, unhappily, fell twice last night, because she had bought new slippers with which further to allure the cold, critical Chicago first night audience. There were a lot of other top-notchers, including Miss Mary Sainnyay, who, as a beautiful who whirled upon her toes in the best Russian method, and who is the worst at that sort of thing, except, perhaps, the good and unknown Ludmilla of the Chicago Opera.

YALE MEN HOLD A CONVENTION; NOMINATE WOOD

Mr. W. Wilson and the rest of the citizenry of the United States are hereby informed that Leonard Wood's application for the tenancy of the White House has been approved by the Yale club of Chicago. The Eli men held a week convention at the Blackstone last night.

The balloting to nominate a candidate for president showed the Democratic mule's bray to be lots worse than its kick. That great exponent of the latter, Gov. Edwards of New Jersey, polled only two votes, which was exactly one-half of the total. Herbert Hoover was Yale's second choice with 68 tallies to Wood's 142. Gov. Lowden ran third, receiving 31 tickets to Washington.

During the early stages of the convention Mr. J. Barleycorn, the expatriate, seemed likely to loom as a dark larger horse. Many of the old grads carried propaganda on their hips. Nevertheless T. E. Donnelly, chairman of the committee on credentials, informed the delegates that he feared the convention had been scandalously packed for Bryan and prohibition.

TALK BY MAYOR WINS FIREMEN TO DROP STRIKE

Agree Not to Resign, Then Draw Up New Demands.

Between 500 and 600 city firemen, about half the number who gave notice to Fire Marshal O'Connor that they would resign in the morning, agreed yesterday to withdraw their resignations. The remainder of the 1,254 who voted to quit are expected to take similar action today, thus averting a firemen's strike next Saturday.

The action followed a forty-five minute speech by Mayor Thompson at the firemen's meeting in the Masonic Temple. When the mayor left the meeting he said: "I told the boys how impossible it is to give them more than a $192 raise at present. Certain members of the finance committee, along with the Municipal Voters' league, conspired in the making of the committee's budget. They hoped that by recommending no salary increases the policemen, the firemen, and other groups of city employees would strike, ruining me and my administration."

Plot Against Him, Mayor Says.
"It was a dirty, low-down, diabolical plot to hurt me in the hope that Thompson candidates for ward committeemen on April 13 would be defeated."

Incidentally the mayor disclosed his plan for making the appropriation bill "pay out" in spite of the fact it provides for the spending of at least $4,000,000 more than this year's revenue.

"I suggest that some of the money appropriated for material and supplies be transferred to salary accounts, letting the bills for materials and supplies go until next year," he said.

After the meeting, LEON HORNSTEIN, George H. Hargan, head of the firemen's organization, stated the men had directed him "to lay a certain proposition before certain city hall officials." He would not discuss it further. One report was that the men are ready to cut the size of the department slightly to provide funds for better salaries. After the meeting Mr. Hargan stated the men had directed him "to lay a certain proposition before certain city hall officials." He would not discuss it further. One report was that the men are ready to cut the size of the department slightly to provide funds for better salaries.

CLERKS' COMMISSION PICK OFFICERS.

The commission appointed by Mayor Thompson to arbitrate the demands of the clerks and other groups of city employees held its second meeting and elected Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein permanent chairman and Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, secretary.

All demands for hearings must be in the secretary's hands before April 15, the commission decided. Hearings will be begun April 17.

ELEVATOR BILL STIRS UP GOLD STAR MOTHERS

The Gold Star Mothers met yesterday at 17 North Wabash avenue. Mrs. Oscar J. Vogl, former president and founder of the organization, was to be the guest of honor. She did not appear.

The secretary read a bill for $15 for elevator service after hours. "This was under Mrs. Vogl's administration," Mrs. John Brucker, the president, said.

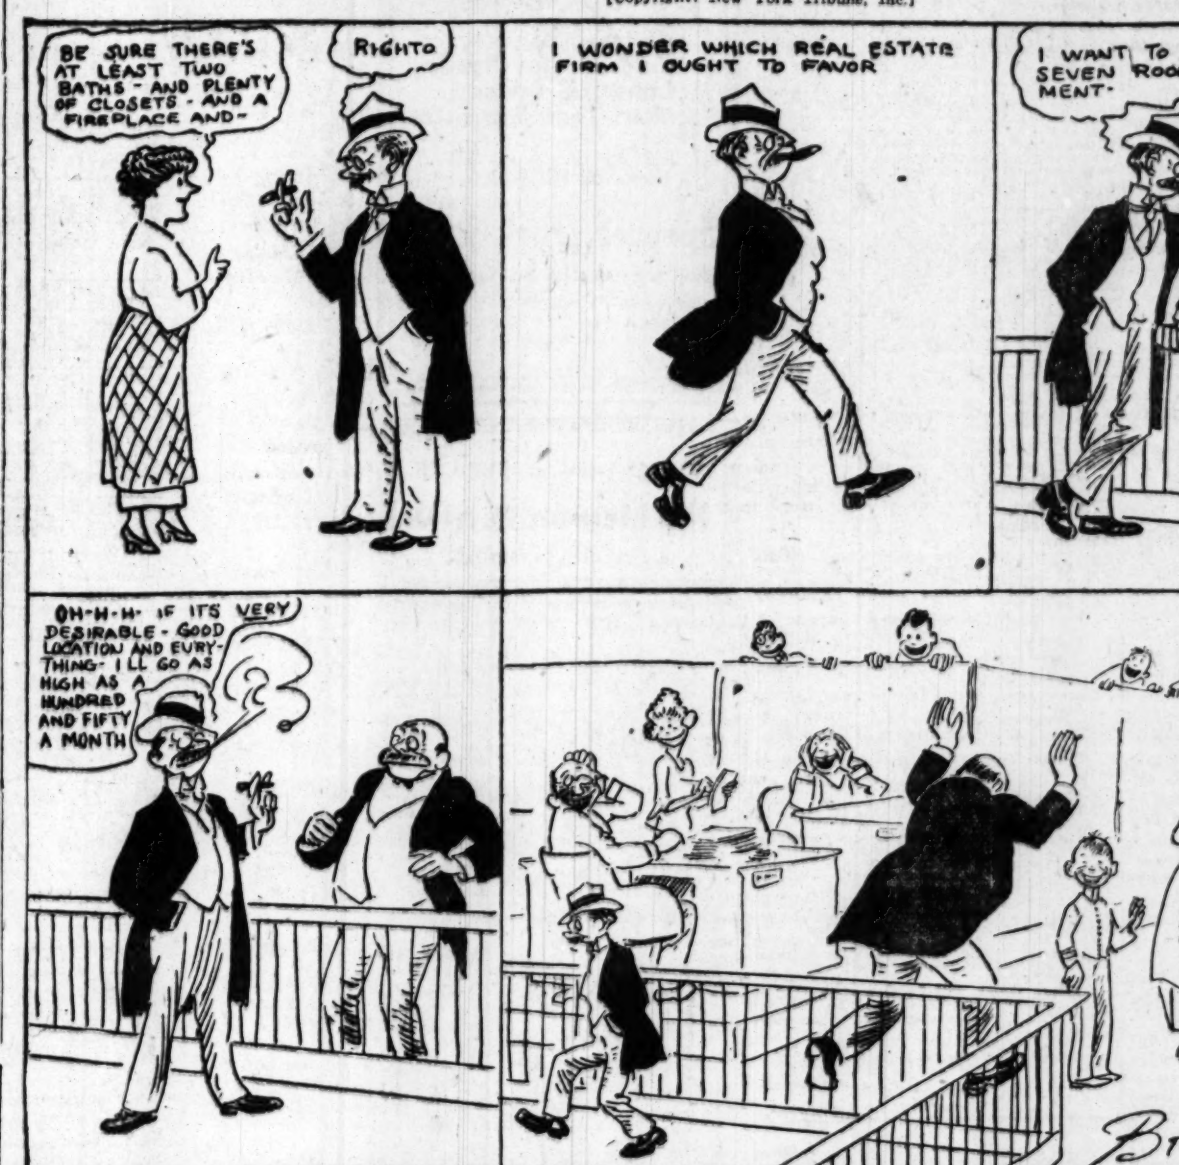

"Don't pay it," some one said; "let her pay her own bills."

"That service was for the Marine league. We didn't have meetings on the dates mentioned in the bill," another woman said.

There was shower of protests and motions and finally the bill was laid aside for investigation.

EGAN HOLDS FORT AS BAILIFF; Foe QUITS CONTEST

Agrees to End Case, Give Vindication.

Chief Bailiff Dennis J. Egan of the Municipal court was accorded undisputed possession of his office yesterday.

Charges of fraud made by his opponent for election, William J. Umhach, were disposed of in a compromise transaction. The name of the late Judge T. A. Scully remains still in litigation, however. The contest against him, election brought by Edward A. Olson and his supporters, was ended, it was announced.

The hearing was before Judge Charles M. Poell in the Superior court. Egan was represented by Attorney Ira Ryner. His Republican opponent, Umhach, was represented by Attorney William F. Struckmann.

INSISTS ON VINDICATION.

Struckmann submitted a motion that the contest in the case of Umhach be dismissed. Ryner said he would oppose the motion unalterably unless it was agreed that the dismissal order should contain Egan's complete vindication of the charge that the board of election commissioners' office had been manipulated in his interests. He formerly was clerk of the board.

The attorneys thereupon held a consultation. It was agreed, Mr. Struckmann said last night, to accede to Mr. Ryner's request, and the order declaring Egan officially certified will be entered by Judge Poell today.

MOVE TO UNSEAT TWO.

A motion was also presented that County Commissioner John Budinger and Chairman of the County Board of Assessors Michael K. Sheridan, Democrats, be unseated in favor of their respective Republican opponents, Thomas Murray and Charles Ringer. Budinger and Sheridan have held office under certified authority. Judge

Today's Question.

What change did the storm make in your Easter plans?

ALFRED FLEMING, 6112 Prairie avenue, an efficiency expert—None whatever. I got up early and plowed through the snow to church. Then I came home with my 7 cent Taxi-ura, read it, had dinner, and went to a little party in the evening.

R. T. McGRATH, 1307 South Kildare avenue, a broker—Was out of town Saturday night and arrived home Sunday morning with a new spring coat on, just about frozen stiff. The storm surely did kill that new suit I had been pulling out of the closet and looking at. I wanted to wear it, but no chance.

FRED ALTHIS, 4556 Magnolia avenue, a salesman—The storm did not affect my plans, as I attended a little card party all day.

MISS BETTY MACKSON, 3114 Diversey boulevard, a clerk—I wasn't greatly disappointed, because my dressmaker hadn't delivered the new dress. All show 'em next Sunday.

JACOB POMARANEC, 346 East Forty-second street, a bailiff—The storm ruined a good party my wife and I hoped to attend. We couldn't even get a taxicab to take us there, so we just remained at home and read the paper.

Poell took the motion under advisement. It was said he would probably deny it.

CROVE REPLIES TO BRUNDAGE.

Chief Justice Robert E. Crowe of the Criminal court, in reply to the recent letter from Attorney General Brundage protesting against the delay in prosecuting alleged election frauds in 1918.

"I agree with the statement that the indictments referred to should be brought speedy trial," the statement reads. "The difficulty is that we need additional judges."

BUYS DIAMOND ON TIME; GIVES IT TO WIDOW; JAIL

Julius Michel, waiter at the Edgewater Beach hotel, bought a diamond ring for $25 on time payments and presented it to a young grass widow. There came a customer, and he demanded back his ring. It was not forthcoming. Monday, Michel says, he paid the third installment on the ring. Yesterday he was arrested on complaint of the jewelry firm, charging him with disposing of mortgaged property. He spent last night in jail.

CONGRESS ASKED TO INVESTIGATE LOW BOND PRICES

House May Name Committee of 7.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., April 5.—[Special.]—The following resolution was introduced in the house today by Representative Magee, New York, Republican:

"Resolved, That a select committee, to consist of seven members, four from the majority and three from the minority membership of the house, be appointed to inquire into the depreciation of the market value of Liberty bonds, and to report to the house at the earliest practicable moment its recommendation as to what legislation, if any, the congress should enact having for its purpose the appreciation of the value of such bonds."

Topics for Investigation.
Mr. Magee enumerated the following as proper subjects for inquiry by the committee: Exemption from taxation, increase in the rate of interest, real rates of depreciation, a fixed policy as to future bond issues, and protection for the multitude of small, patriotic holders.

Mr. Magee said he had been led to introduce the resolution as a result of numerous letters from constituents asking why the government did not do something about the declining values. "I think the government owes an obligation to the large number of holders of bonds who bought them because of patriotism," said Mr. Magee. "My constituents can't understand why something should not be done, and they are right. I do not think congress should sit here and do nothing."

Could Inspire Confidence.
"I should tend to establish confidence if congress would make a statement of its policy as to further issuance of bonds."

It is considered probable that the ways and means committee will object to the plan, inasmuch as it comes within its jurisdiction.

Mr. Magee said he had no objection to the investigation being made by the ways and means committee, but thought a smaller committee would be better.

B. E. T. TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY.

TRIBUNE STORM FUND NOW $4,294; CITY SENDS OUT APPEALS

THE TRIBUNE fund for the relief of the tornado victims passed the $4,000 mark yesterday. A contribution of $100 was received from the C. & S. Cafeteria company and gifts of $50 each were sent in by the Tunk Manufacturing company, M. W. Murphy, and John Cordes. Jenkins Brothers and D. F. Crilly contributed $25 each. Total contributions follow:

Ten thousand letters asking funds for the relief of those made homeless by the tornado were sent out during the day by the mayor's committee. Contributions amounting to $14,500 have been received, it was announced at a meeting of the committee. In addition to the banks of the Clearing House association have promised $7,500, the packers expect to give $5,000, and the Herman Hettler Lumber company has subscribed $500.

The seventeenth Chicago tornado death was recorded—that of Mrs. Margaret Laufenberger of 5655 North Mead avenue. Her daughter Elizabeth, 16, also was a victim.

Judge Favors "Knocking Head Off" Wife Beater

Superior Judge David yesterday granted Mrs. Vera Shortridge of 1007 East Forty-first place a divorce from Basil Dean Shortridge. Mrs. Shortridge testified her husband had beaten her twice. Once her brother interfered.

"Why didn't your brother knock his head off and pitch him out the window?" the judge asked.

WARRANTS FOR MARCUSE FIRM ARE PROJECTED

Larceny by Bailee Said to Be Charge.

Warrants for the arrest of Benjamin Marcuse and Lew H. Morris, partners in the defunct brokerage concern of Ben Marcuse & Co., will be asked in Municipal court the latter part of this week by counsel representing groups of creditors of the concern. Attorney Lewis Jacobson announced last night.

Preliminary drafts of the complaint are already prepared and are said to deal with charges of embezzlement and larceny by bailee.

Attorney Jacobson, who is representing a large number of creditors of the Marcuse concern, also announced that, as foretold by THE TRIBUNE yesterday, a percentage offer of settlement would be handed to the creditors Wednesday.

Tentatively Accept Offer.
At a conference Sunday, attended by all the attorneys interested in the case, Mr. Jacobson stated, the details of the offer were discussed, and at a later conference, attended only by creditors' counsel, it was tentatively agreed to accept the offer providing it would mean an actual reimbursement to the creditor of more than 50 per cent of his claim.

Attorney George T. Buckingham, counsel for Clement C. and George Studebaker, participants in the Hecht-Finn trust pool, however, yesterday issued a statement flatly denying that such a compromise offer had been considered, so far as his clients are concerned.

"Neither George nor Clement Studebaker has participated in any such conference," he declared. "Neither of the Studebakers, nor Scott Brown, nor Richard Yates Hoffman has ever been a partner, either general or special, in Marcuse & Co., or had any interest in its control or management."

Investors, Not Partner.
"The sole basis for the rumors on that subject is that Messrs. Finn and Hecht, who are limited partners, issued and sold their own negotiable trust certificates, in order to raise the funds which they put into Marcuse & Co. These negotiable certificates expressly provide that the holders have no relation whatever as partners or otherwise, with Marcuse & Co., have no interest in its assets, no control of its affairs, and no liability for its acts. The holders of these certificates are purely investors, not partners of any kind."

"An investment concern in which the Studebakers are interested, and of which Mr. Scott Brown is manager, bought and paid for one of these certificates in the name of Mr. Richard Yates Hoffman. That is the whole story. The investors in these certificates are not liable in any way to creditors of Marcuse & Co., and, of course, the Studebakers, as such holders of a certificate, have not proposed to pay any Marcuse debts."

Land to Pass on Liability.
Federal Judge Landis, it is understood, will pass on the question of the liability of the participants in the Hecht-Finn Trust company at the next hearing, on April 11.

According to Attorney Jacobson, the offer, which will be made Wednesday, extends only to the actual creditors of the Marcuse concern and does not include the scores of Von Frantzius customers who were caught in the crash. Von Frantzius' creditors, however, will be offered a smaller percentage, it was stated.

According to the information furnished by Mr. Jacobson, it is planned that the members of the Hecht-Finn trust fund will renounce their claims as creditors in the estate, which will leave only about $1,200,000 uncovered liabilities.

The offer of settlement, it was pointed out, does not take into consideration the question of criminal liability of any member of the firm.

EASTER CLOTHES, SHROUD FOR GIRL WHO ENDED LIFE

Anna Gonczars, the 16 year old girl found dying Saturday night in the kitchen of her home at 1409 South Halsted street following a quarrel between her parents, killed herself while temporarily insane. Anna will be buried today in her Easter clothes.

A coroner's jury decided yesterday and exonerated her parents. Members of the family told how Anna, happy with her new Easter clothes, had arranged a big party. Then came the parents' quarrel. Anna left the room weeping, a shot was heard, and she was found on the kitchen floor, a bullet wound in her head.

The police were suspicious because no revolver was found and because there were marks on Anna's face as if she had been beaten and choked. Anna will be buried today in her Easter clothes.

'Eagle Eye' Has That Kind of Nose, Too, for Liquor

Mike Ambrosia, known in Phoenix, Ariz., as "Eagle Eye," an Apache chief, 62 years old, spent the night in a Clark street cell.

"What do you work at, Mike?" asked Lieut. Madden.

"Work?" repeated Mike. "Hell, no. Squaw work."

"Where'd you get the freewater?" "Smell 'em. Saloon man say: 'No got.' I say: 'Damile. Indian nose smell 'em fast. Get plenty.'"

MANDEL BROTHERS VICTORY IN ORIGINALITY and DAININESS

A Victory in originality and daintiness is this charming negligee with its strange soft shade of lavender; with its blue ribbons and Point D'Alencon; with its subtle daring achieved by deft and clever fingers—and there—on the front blooms the most gay and gracious rose outside a French garden. In this robe—with its poignant lovely colors—fantasy goes hand-in-hand with exquisite taste.

And does not sauciness abound in this most flippant of tip-tilt caps—of orchid tulle with the merest suspicion of gold embroidery?

Negligees

A—Slipover Negligees of crepe meteor, with georgette sleeves, trimmed with tassels, colors are coral, tea rose, light blue and orchid, priced $22.50.

C—Breakfast Coats of two tone satin in beautiful tones, such as turquoise, old blue and rose, trimmed with ruffles and flowers, priced $18.75.

D—Breakfast Coats of Armure taffeta, trimmed with cords and ruffles, some ornamented with French flowers, delightful colors, priced $27.50.

E—A charming Breakfast Coat, with a very becoming collar, shirred pockets, trimmed with flowers, in a two tone taffeta, colors such as Wedgwood blue, Durberry rose, coral, priced $35.00.
